MURDER 152 IN TRAIN AFFIRE

TRIAL SEEN IN HINT OF BRIBE TO FORD JUROR

Woman Accused in Libel Trial.

Detroit, Mich., April 20.—[Special.]—A hint of a bribe to a juror in the trial of Henry Ford for libel was given by a juror who was seen leaving the courtroom with a woman who was accused of libel.

Ford's Attorneys' Charges.

The grounds on which the Ford attorneys ask a mistrial are these:

1. That Cora Hoffman, one of the jurors, was guilty of a libelous attack on the Ford motor company.
2. That Cora Hoffman, in violation of the instructions of the court, held conversations from time to time with a certain person known as "Kid" Miller, who was in frequent attendance at the trial.

Detestive's File Affidavits.

The Ford motion is supported by affidavits made by detectives for the state's attorney.

Admits Talk with Miller.

Mrs. Hoffman admitted that she had talked with Miller in the corridors of the courtroom, but said the conversation was not related to the trial.

Charge Bad Faith.

Mr. Sapiro and William Henry Galt, Jr., chief counsel, accuse the Ford people of bad faith in bringing the charges at this time.

Annoyed Seized by Theater Manager.

Mr. Sapiro, 20, of 2346 West 24th street, was arrested last night after being seized in the Liberty theater.

In savagery even those at Munoz, Puebla, in 1915, and at Hipolito, Chihuahua, in 1914, and at La Cima, Morelos, in 1912. At Munoz the Zapatistas dynamited the train, killing 146 passengers and soldiers. At Hipolito 100 persons perished. The Zapatistas killed sixty at La Cima.

Calles Gives Official Story.

MEXICO CITY, April 20.—(AP)—President Calles, through his chief of staff, tonight issued a report from Gen. Jaime Carrillo, chief of staff of War Minister Amaro, who is stationed at Yurecuro, several stations distant from the scene of the rebel attack on the Guadalupe-Mexico City train. Because of the nonarrival of the train, Carrillo says he mobilized the greatest number of troops available, ordered a special train and moved to the north of the station at La Barca.

"The bandits, headed by the priest Yaga, Pedraza, and Angulo, and a lawyer named Loza, a commissioner of the League for the Defense of Religious Liberty, with a bandit nicknamed No. 14," the report continues, "were then fleeing to the nearby mountains."

"The military escort of the train fought valiantly and heroically for more than three hours and a half until the last soldier was killed. Then the church bandits entered the coaches, which were full of passengers, and some bandits with knives and others with revolvers attacked the defenseless passengers, especially butchering those traveling in the second class coaches. Not content with leaving behind a great number of wounded and dead inside the cars, they set the train afire without heeding the cries of agony of those still alive."

Wounded Burn Alive.

"I am witness that upon our arrival the cries of wounded passengers being burned alive were still to be heard within the cars, and although we made efforts to rescue them, it was impossible, because all the cars were raging furnaces."

"I have sent to Yurecuro twenty-six wounded, of whom three died en route. On the train returning to Ocotlan, I sent a party of survivors, including nine wounded. Among the wounded sent to Yurecuro is one of the soldiers of the military escort. So far I have recovered forty bodies, which I will bury immediately, but I am sending, at the request of the railway personnel, the body of the express messenger to Mexico City. I permitted relatives of three other passengers who were killed to take over their bodies."

In gathering this morning passengers who sought refuge in neighboring ranches, I met Eduardo Mestre of Mexico City, unhurt, and I also know that Dr. Gastelum of Mexico City, and E. S. De Lima are unhurt."

Blames Catholic Episcopate.

MEXICO CITY, April 20.—(U. P.)—President Calles issued a statement tonight charging that the train hold-up near La Barca station was perpetrated by rebel bandits under the leadership of Catholic priests. The clerics who aided in the attack, Señor Calles' statement said, "received instructions from the episcopate."

President Calles said the military escort put up a three hour resistance against the attacking band, which was headed personally by the priest Yaga, Pedraza, and Angulo, the lawyer Loza, who was a member of the League for Defense of Religious Liberty, and a bandit known as "El Catorce" [Number 14].

SLAUGHTER

Between 150 and 200 persons, most of them helpless passengers, were slaughtered by a Mexican rebel band which attacked a Guadalupe-Mexico City train near La Barca, in the state of Jalisco, on Tuesday night. The band, numbering about 500, killed all the members of the military guard, comprising about fifty men, and then set fire to the coaches.

JONAS STARTS WAR ON 'STRAW' BONDSMEN EVIL

Thirty professional bondsmen, said to be on the blacklist of the Municipal court, were named in warrants issued yesterday by Municipal Judge Edgar A. Jonas as the first step in a drive to force them out of the courts. Judge Jonas recently was given charge of the newly created Bond court, and his investigation has revealed, he announced, that blacklisted bondsmen during the last five years signed worthless bonds totaling $500,000.

Judge Jonas declared that because of the state's inability to collect on these bonds when they are forfeited, gunmen, burglars, morons, and other criminals have gone free of any punishment and roam the streets, ready to commit new crimes.

"This is just the first step in a move to break up these gangs," Judge Jonas said. "These warrants only scratch the surface."

The warrants were placed in the hands of detectives, who immediately began rounding up the accused bondsmen.

Police Control Crowd as Jews Raise $5,000 Fund

Cash and pledges totaling $5,000 were raised last night at the celebration of the silver anniversary of the Jewish national fund at Orchestra hall. The crowd that sought to get into the hall was so great that police reserves were called to preserve order. Judge Harry M. Fisher and W. H. Gallienne, British vice consul, were the principal speakers. Cantors Z. Kwartin and P. Z. Pinchuk of Leningrad sang.

YANK TARS KILL 3; MARINES FACE NICARAGUA FIRE

See Plan to Force U. S. to Run Nation.

By GERALD MARTIN. [Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 20.—Twenty-four American sailors protecting Posoltega station, ten miles south of Chinandega, were attacked by fifty Liberal rebels today. Three Liberals were killed.

The clash with the sailors followed several similar attacks on United States marines. Conservative troops dispatched to turn out the Liberals holding Nagarote were fired on last night, notwithstanding the United States marine guard, which was also fired on. The marines returned the fire with machine guns. There were no casualties among the marines.

The naval authorities said the marines were protecting the railway line of communications, not the Conservatives, but the Liberals interpret it that the marines are supporting the Dias government against the Liberal forces.

Report Train Is Fired On.

Managua papers today stated that a passenger train was fired on while marines were protecting the train, but the passengers denied this, intimating that the passing through Nagarote was quiet, although the assistant secretary of public works, Señor Lacayo, requested the marines to disperse the Liberals holding the station. The marines refused.

At Chichigalpa a Liberal rebel detachment engaged the Conservatives outside the town last night. Two Liberals and three Conservatives were killed. Chichigalpa is along the railroad protected by marines, who drove off the Liberals, exchanging shots but with no casualties.

The government reports the Liberals are attacking in the neighborhood of Rivas and San Juan del Sur with some success. The Liberals were defeated by Gen. Cruzherinde near Muy where Gen. Escamilla with 350 men were ambushed by 300 Conservatives.

Stimson Meets Liberal Leaders.

Henry L. Stimson, President Coolidge's investigator, held a conference with the Liberal leaders this afternoon following a conference with American Minister Eberhardt and Rear Admiral Julian Latimer. Later he discussed the situation with the business men.

The impression here is that the Liberals are anxious to force the United States to take charge by making attacks on the marines.

NEW OAK PARK TRUSTEES, President Are Inaugurated.

President Willis McFeeley, who was re-elected Tuesday, and three new trustees, were inaugurated last night at the village hall of Oak Park. Mrs. Dorothy C. Kerr, one of the trio of trustees, is the wife of Dr. E. K. Kerr. E. F. Kolger and D. L. Boden are the two other trustees.

SENATE TAKES HAND IN ARMOUR GRAIN SCANDAL

Asks Suspension of Men Who Knew of Frauds.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—[Special.] A resolution, passed out by the senate executive committee tonight, asks the Chicago Board of Trade to suspend from trading privileges the individual officers of the Armour Grain company "who had knowledge of the frauds" exposed in the report of the arbitrator, Attorney Edward E. Brown, in the scandal that brought about the failure of the Grain Marketing company.

A few minutes before this senate agricultural committee passed the resolution, a favorable recommendation, that it create a commission of three men which would have licensing supervision over the business of grain traders thereon, subjecting them to a new set of state police rules.

Warnings Are Presented.

These actions were not taken without warning from the official representative of the board, Frank Delaney, that if things go too far the old Chicago institution may be forced out of business and the warning by Senator Rodney Swift that the grain exchange may be driven into Canada. Delaney gave his statement of principles, his offer of aid, and his solicitation for fair treatment before the senate committee on agriculture.

"We shall continue our activities as long as we can function honestly," he said. "I hope the legislature will permit us to do that." The senate ignored the Curran committee investigation, not embarked on its own notions of regulation. The Lantz bill, revived by Senator Harold Kossinger, of Aurora, out of its death bed of six years ago, was endorsed by the agent of the Illinois Agricultural association, A. C. Everingham. He said the time for regulating the board had come and at the same time stated that too much agitation was hurting the grain prices.

Curran Committee Meets.

The Curran committee met with its special attorney, B. F. Goldstein, in executive session tonight. They decided to draw up a program of legislation to be submitted to the attorney general.

They will also call to the witness stand, in the Chicago hearings, John A. Bunnell, president of the Board of Trade; J. Ogden Armour, and other members of the Armour family, who were interested in the stock selling campaign of the Grain Marketing company. Suspension of the Armour Grain company was called a "futile gesture" by Senator Kossinger, in urging his resolution, which hits at the men who ran that concern.

Officers to Go on Trial.

Mr. Delaney, commenting on this situation, said that the officers of that company would go to trial as soon as the arbitrator's evidence could be obtained after May 10, and assured the senators that "no man was too big to get by the rules of honest dealing on the board." He called attention to the various bills in the assembly affecting the Board of Trade and the house investigation, and said:

"There is a flood of bills aimed at the board. We take for granted that there is an honest inspiration back of them to correct fancied evils, protect integrity, and aid commerce. You must recognize, as business men, that it is impossible for us to deal with all these bills seriously."

"If the Board of Trade is a nefarious business it should not be permitted to continue. It is unfair to place a stigma on a business until the facts determine whether such stigma should apply. If legislation is unwise, it is bound to be destructive to all. If laws

They sap your energy—fray your nerves—and dull your brain. A man needs to be physically fit and mentally alert to get ahead in the keen fight for business success. Defends Board's Record.

"We have pride in the board. We believe that no institution could be conducted for seventy years in the face of so many storms that is not essentially sound and honest. We believe the board has given play to the greatest factor that works to the profit of man, free and honest competition, and, at the same time, has shown the spirit of cooperation. Events show that we do enforce honesty. No man can remain a member long after he has been shown as dishonest. "Do you think there is anything in speculation?" asked Senator Henry Dunlap.

"I think speculation in grain is the best thing that can happen to the farmer," was the reply.

MISS DAWES IN COLLAPSE OVER FIANCE'S WEDDING

Miss Marian Dawes, who was preparing for her wedding on April 30 when her fiancé, Gordon Bilderback, suddenly eloped Wednesday, was reported in complete collapse from shock at her home in Glenview last night. Miss Dawes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Dawes, and is a second cousin of Vice President Charles G. Dawes. She was at a railway station to meet her prospective bridegroom when she received the news that Bilderback, Champaign (Ill.) automobile dealer, had been married by a judge to Miss Gertrude Sergeant, instructor of public speaking at the University of Illinois.

Bilderback and his bride were remarried yesterday at the home of his brother, Byron, in Danville, Ill. This time the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ralph C. Hintzman of the First Presbyterian church of Danville.

YALE BANQUET CHEERS RING OUT ACROSS NATION

Yale men sat around a banquet table theoretically 10,000 miles in circumference last night and listened to a program from speakers table that reached from New Haven, Conn., to San Francisco, Cal. The imaginary banquet room may have reached even farther—to London and Honolulu.

The occasion was the university's Round the World Endowment Fund dinner. Twenty-two radio stations broadcast the speeches in one hook-up, eliminating time and space. After a toastmaster in New Haven started the ceremony the fifty-minute program was as follows:

7:30 p. m. [eastern time]—President James Rowland Angell spoke in New York.

7:52 p. m. [eastern time]—Richard F. Grant '93 responded from Cleveland.

9 p. m. [central time]—President Emeritus Arthur T. Hadley spoke in Chicago at the Drake hotel.

9:10 p. m. [central time]—Harry B. Wallace '93 responded from St. Louis.

8:15 p. m. [eastern time]—Chief Justice William Howard Taft '78 delivered the last address in Washington.

Singing Opens Banquet.

As Chief Justice Taft took his seat, the guests, scattered in 181 cities in 46 states, united in singing "Bright College Days," led by Noah H. Swayne '93, standing before the microphone in New York City.

Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller foundation, speaking in New York, acted as national toastmaster.

"This is a remarkable moment, not merely for Yale but for one of her goals, the advancement of science," he said in introducing President Angell. "You have just heard 20,000 Yale men, perhaps more, in all parts of the nation, join their voices in one chorus."

Dispatches from New Haven after the banquet stated that $10,000,000 of the $20,000,000 endowment fund sought by the university, to be used chiefly for higher salaries for professors, had been subscribed when the program ended. Chicago's quota of $1,500,000 was more than half filled.

A Huge Yale Bowl.

Arranged to represent the Yale bowl, the Drake ballroom presented a unique appearance with the tables on tiers of "bleachers" flanked by goal posts from which fluttered blue and white pennants.

The plea of Dr. Hadley, who was for 21 years president of the university, was for a diversion of some of the profits of the commercial world.

"Every great war is followed by an intellectual crisis," he declared. "We are facing one now."

"As the profits of those who manufacture the world's commodities increase, the compensation of the professional classes stands still. We cannot afford to let the training of the next generation fall into the hands of teachers who do not know the difference between first and second rate work."

Speakers after Dr. Hadley were John M. Gates, new graduate director of athletics; John V. Farwell, member of the Corporation of Yale and head of the endowment drive in Chicago, and James O. Heyworth, chairman of the north central division of the fund committee. William McCormick Blair '97, was toastmaster.

Almost to the second, after the tables were cleared, the radio program was tuned in. A strain or two of music, a brief announcement, and through the loud speaker came the voices of the Yale Glee club in New Haven singing Yale's proudest song, "Mother of Men."

The guests broke into a cheer. They then joined in the chorus simultaneously with graduates in Boston, Miami, Duluth, El Paso, Louisville, Salt Lake City, Spokane and Seattle.

Sing It Around the World.

Yesterday and today, but still on Wednesday night, the same song was and will be sung by alumni groups in twenty cities of Asia, Africa, South America and Europe.

Ex-President Taft's plea, like that of all the other speakers, was for generous support of the endowment fund. Some of the prospects at the university are excellent, said Director Gates.

"Some of us thought when the old days of two-fisted drinkers disappeared with prohibition," he smiled, "everything had gone to the bow-wow."

Then along came Steve Ford and his great rowing crew and put us back on the map."

8:15 p. m. [eastern time]—Chief Justice William Howard Taft '78 delivered the last address in Washington.

Singing Opens Banquet.

As Chief Justice Taft took his seat, the guests, scattered in 181 cities in 46 states, united in singing "Bright College Days," led by Noah H. Swayne '93, standing before the microphone in New York City.

Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller foundation, speaking in New York, acted as national toastmaster.

"This is a remarkable moment, not merely for Yale but for one of her goals, the advancement of science," he said in introducing President Angell. "You have just heard 20,000 Yale men, perhaps more, in all parts of the nation, join their voices in one chorus."

Dispatches from New Haven after the banquet stated that $10,000,000 of the $20,000,000 endowment fund sought by the university, to be used chiefly for higher salaries for professors, had been subscribed when the program ended. Chicago's quota of $1,500,000 was more than half filled.

A Huge Yale Bowl.

Arranged to represent the Yale bowl, the Drake ballroom presented a unique appearance with the tables on tiers of "bleachers" flanked by goal posts from which fluttered blue and white pennants.

The plea of Dr. Hadley, who was for 21 years president of the university, was for a diversion of some of the profits of the commercial world.

"Every great war is followed by an intellectual crisis," he declared. "We are facing one now."

"As the profits of those who manufacture the world's commodities increase, the compensation of the professional classes stands still. We cannot afford to let the training of the next generation fall into the hands of teachers who do not know the difference between first and second rate work."

Speakers after Dr. Hadley were John M. Gates, new graduate director of

WOMEN'S BEAUTY BILL IN U. S. ESTIMATED AT $5,000,000 EVERY DAY

Five million dollars a day is the amount expended by women of the United States to keep themselves beautiful, Mrs. Ruth J. Maurer, head of the National Cosmetics school, yesterday told delegates to the beauty trades show, which is being held at the Hotel Sherman under direction of the Illinois Hair Dressers' association.

"If women continue spending at the same rate," Mrs. Maurer said, "they will invest 28 times more in powders and rouge to protect their appearances during the next 12 months than Uncle Sam contemplates putting in airplanes and battleships to protect our national boundaries."

"Ninety per cent of the women of America are participating in this investment in good looks."

The occasion was the university's Round the World Endowment Fund dinner. Twenty-two radio stations broadcast the speeches in one hook-up, eliminating time and space. After a toastmaster in New Haven started the ceremony the fifty-minute program was as follows:

7:30 p. m. [eastern time]—President James Rowland Angell spoke in New York.

7:52 p. m. [eastern time]—Richard F. Grant '93 responded from Cleveland.

The guests broke into a cheer. They then joined in the chorus simultaneously with graduates in Boston, Miami, Duluth, El Paso, Louisville, Salt Lake City, Spokane and Seattle.

OLD IRONSIDES WILL SAIL HERE, WILBUR'S PLEDGE

Navy Secretary Delighted
by Chicago Spirit.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT

Old Ironsides is coming to Chicago. Hip-hip-hooray!

The secretary of the navy said so last night.

He said it with a hip-hip-hooray, and when Secretary Wilbur—formerly stately Mr. Justice Wilbur—gets as excited as that you may know that he is going to put over what he says.

"The navy department," he announced from Washington, "will gladly send Old Ironsides to Chicago."

"We of the navy profoundly appreciate what Chicago, its mayor, and its Tribune have started in aid of the fund for the reconditioning of the grand old emblem of our country's grandest tradition of courage, seamanship, and devotion."

To Visit Lakes Cities.

"We shall be happy to have Old Ironsides—just as soon as the work of restoration is finished—visit not only Chicago but other great lakes ports. We want the example of Capt. Hull and Bainbridge and Stewart, and of the men and boys who fought under them on Old Ironsides during four of the nation's most trying years, to receive the homage of the mighty middle west."

"It will be a glory cruise of a glory ship."

"Seeing Old Ironsides moving into your harbor under her own gallant sails will benefit both the American navy and the millions of American children and citizens who will behold that inspiring sight."

"I congratulate Chicago on its initiative and the navy on the opportunity that has come to it to perform a service which combines deep spiritual inspiration with solid practical benefit and instruction."

So, boys and girls, there you are! You are going to see on our fresh waters the vessel which made world history on salt waters 117 years ago, and which now is going to make new history, perhaps not less momentous in its spiritual significance, on fresh waters."

Question of Details Now.

The great day when the cannon and the bands and the troops and the

Robert Seitzner, county clerk 25

Through an error the last two contributions above were listed in this Chicago Tribune fund in yesterday's paper.

Flags shall welcome Old Ironsides to Chicago is a certainty. The frigate, so says Secretary Wilbur, will come via the St. Lawrence and the Welland canal.

The news that the day of homage is a certainty burst in true Hull-Bainbridge-Stewart style right in this Tribune's face last night and in the face of the new city controller, Charles Fitzmorris, who was designated by Mayor Thompson to carry on in the Old Ironsides campaign during Mr. Thompson's absence in the south.

Speeds Up Work on Buttons.

Upon hearing the news from Washington, Mr. Fitzmorris' first act was to speed up work on the Old Ironsides souvenir buttons which the mayor is going to shower among the half million Chicago school children at a penny a button—or five pennies a button if a child thinks he can afford that much.

And then the children are to finance the buttons among us grownups in ways that will make the most money for the restoration fund.

In view of Secretary Wilbur's announcement, Geraghty, the button man, who is used to meeting emergencies and who has charge of the technical part of the mayor's project, put on an extra force of men and women to hurry work on the first order for 100,000 Old Ironsides buttons.

William H. Herring, Geraghty's chief of design, took as the basis of his button picture the celebrated gold medal which congress voted to Capt. Hull for knocking the stuffing out of the enemy ship Guerriere on Aug. 19, 1812, in latitude 41 degrees 40 minutes and longitude 35 degrees 45 minutes, after he had read in a London newspaper just arrived in Boston that his ship, the Constitution "Old Ironsides" (the pet name) was "a bundle of pine boards sailing under a bit of striped bunting."

Combines Two Designs.

Mr. Herring's design is spirited. He has happily combined both the obverse and the reverse of the gold medal, and the children will have not only a portrait of Hull but also a picture of Old Ironsides and the Guerriere coming to grips.

"Now," said Mr. Fitzmorris, "that Old Ironsides' visit to Chicago is a certainty, Chicago's supreme objective is to raise so much money for the restoration fund that work on the frigate can go on in two shifts."

"The quicker the old boy is mended and on his sea legs again the quicker he'll be with us. And the quicker Chicago raises the money the quicker the mending will be finished. Mr. Geraghty is already under way with his part of our job. In the morning I am to have a conference with the school authorities on other details."

"Every day now will bring progress."

Illinois Acts Officially.

Down at Springfield yesterday there were Old Ironsides doings, also in the key of hip-hip-hooray.

It was like the days of eleven decades ago when state legislators used to stand in their places when they voted the thanks of commonwealths to Hull and Bainbridge and Stewart.

With enthusiasm the senate unanimously passed a joint resolution praying for the restoration of Old Ironsides.

Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield introduced the resolution, which praised the efforts of Mrs. Tauxem and other newspapers that have asked to have Old Ironsides visit the great lakes cities. Effects of such a trip were described thus:

"It seems fit and timely, in order to help combat the dangers of defenseless pacifism and of teachings within the country that would urge the breaking down of adequate national defense, to exhibit and cherish material reminders and mementoes of patriotic sacrifices of more than a century ago."

"The restoration of this frigate to seaworthiness would serve an invaluable purpose in the stimulation of interest in national defense and in primary lessons of patriotism."

Special Reference to Children.

The resolution asked that "special provision be made for a reception on the frigate of school children; that the United States government invite the city of Chicago and the state of Illinois to effect such plans in relation to reception of the frigate as its historic and patriotic value may justify warrant."

The resolution concluded: "Be it further resolved, That one copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States, one to the secretary of the navy of the United States, and that further copies be furnished government officials at Washington, D. C., as expedient."

Suspension of the rules was obtained in order to expedite the progress of the resolution. After its adoption by the senate, Secretary James H. Paddock hurried the resolution over to the house of representatives, where similar action will be sought today by Representative Carl E. Robinson of Jacksonville.

Legion Makes Its Appeal.

Simultaneously with the senate's action the American Legion issued a powerful statewide appeal for Old Ironsides funds.

Six hundred and fifty Illinois posts were reached with this message from their departmental commander, Ferre C. Watkins:

"Old Ironsides represents the unconquerable spirit of America in the early days of the nation."

"It is directly in line with our Americanism work for the Legion to support this movement. It will be good for our people, at a time when a cult of ridicule of America and America's past is found in many social, educational and religious circles."

"We shall be justifiably proud if the 650 posts in Illinois as part of their Americanism program contribute a cent or a nickel per member."

"Please make checks payable to our own post commander, Officers W. Schick, and send them to the Legion Service office, room 208, 160 North La Salle street, Chicago. Let us show the nation that the fighting sons of America in 1917 and 1918 stretch hands across the years to greet in memory and reverence the men who preserved the nation 1812."

Other fighting organizations jumped into the campaign.

Illinois Veterans of Foreign Wars, Abraham "Greenfield" commandant, spread this on its records:

"An organization like ours, composed of men who have seen service while fighting America's battles in foreign lands and on foreign seas, strongly believes that the restoration and display of the frigate Constitution will arouse a keen appreciation to our citizenry of old time Americanism. We sponsor the drive for funds and endorse the inland cruises."

Silver Star post of the veterans, Harry D. Nierenberg commanding, followed suit.

So did the American War Mothers, who urged "redoubled efforts to meet—and exceed—Chicago's quota."

So did the Disabled American War Veterans of Illinois, Carter Smith commanding, and so did Naval Post 373 of the American Legion, which is going to have a big costume ball on Saturday night and give ten per cent of the proceeds to Old Ironsides.

OLD FOES FORM ALLIANCE IN NEW CHINESE LINEUP

Former Boss of Shanghai Joins Gen. Chiang.

BY JOHN POWELL.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
SHANGHAI, April 20.—The Chinese news became more puzzling today. It is reported, but not confirmed, that Marshal Sun Chuan-fang has joined the nationalists and has been appointed defense commissioner of eastern Kiangsu, with control of China's chief salt revenue area. Marshal Sun, formerly overlord of Shanghai and five of the richest provinces of China, was forced from power by the victories of the Cantonese nationalists. He turned over Shanghai to Gen. Chang Chung-chang, representative of Chang Tso-lin, master of northern China and Manchuria. Chang Chung-chang in turn lost Shanghai to the nationalists. Sun recently staged a comeback and administered a severe defeat to the nationalists along the Yangtze.

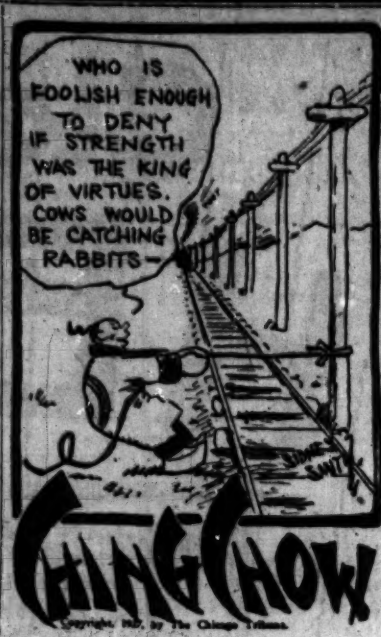

Call Chang's Move Sincere.

Although the local British press claims the nationalists by forming a new government at Nanking are merely whitewashing themselves in order to avoid responsibility for the Nanking incidents, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, the nationalist military commander, apparently is sincerely trying to rid the communists from the Kuomintang party.

It is reported tonight from Hankow that Michael Borodin, Russian adviser to the nationalist government and a resident of Chicago, and Teng Tzu-ta, head of the political bureau, have entered the international hospital for a rest cure, but really for the purpose of safety, and that M. Borodin was looted by mobs.

Says New Government Functions.

Quo Tai-chi, nationalist commissioner of foreign affairs, returned to Shanghai this morning from Nanking. He declared the Nanking government was formally organized on April 18 and is now functioning, and the new officials will shortly be announced. Quo said the Tribune's impeachment of the Hankow government by the Nanking central control committee nullifies the government.

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, nationalist military commander, has stated his belief that the "real Kuomintangists," including Mrs. Sun Yat-sen, Tan Yen-kai, Sun Fo, and others, shortly will desert Hankow for Nanking. He does not expect armed clashes between the Nanking and Hankow factions and declares Gen. Chiang will immediately continue the campaign against Gen. Chang Tso-lin and Gen. Chang Chung-chang along the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

Will Not Break with Russia.
Respecting the future attitude of the Nanking government toward the powers, Quo declared:
"There is absolutely no change in the Kuomintang party's program respecting the foreigners. We will treat those nations as equal which accord nationalist China equal treatment."

Regarding Gen. Chiang's purging of the Kuomintang of the communists, Quo said this action is not likely to interfere with the friendly relations between China and Russia, declaring: "China is as much opposed to Red imperialism as any other kind of imperialism, and in the future Gen. Chiang is determined to proceed on a strictly fundamental Kuomintang platform."

See Powers Tricked.
The sudden shift of the nationalist government from Hankow is particularly embarrassing to the powers, who have an armada of forty warcraft in Hankow harbor, for the apparent purpose of taking strong action against the nationalist government respecting the Nanking incidents. American officials in Shanghai is nonplussed, not knowing whether to chase the nationalists to Nanking, in which event they are likely to find the government moved elsewhere. British press reports from London continue to indicate England's determination upon strong action, but the Japanese are noncommittal.

(According to The Tribune's Washington correspondent, as far as Secretary of State Kellogg has been informed, none of the interested powers has definitely reached a decision as to its future course of action toward the Cantonese. Secretary Kellogg made it known that the United States has not yet decided on the instructions which will be dispatched to Minister MacMurray at Peking for his guidance in framing a new note of protest against the outrages at Nanking. It was intimated that the United States, together with the other powers, has about decided to await immediate developments in the civil war in China before taking definite action.)

See Christianity Aided.
Dr. G. Willard Lyon of the international committee of the Y. M. C. of Yonkers, N. Y., for many years a missionary in China, addressing a conference of the national Christian council, today declared the present crisis affecting the Christian missionary work is a silver lining through the almost universal response of the Chinese Christians to shoulder the responsibilities, and the present crisis is likely to speed up the tendency to create an autonomous Chinese church.

Dr. Lyon said the present government provides a heaven sent opportunity to solve the outstanding problems of Christianity in China, particularly the question of religious sects. He declared the Chinese misunderstood the conflicting western ideas respecting Christianity and the present crisis is likely to purge the Christian church of the forms the western missionaries introduced, but which the Chinese do not understand.

The national Christian council, which represents the modernist viewpoint, repudiates the suggestion that the present meetings constitute a reply to the fundamentalist attack yesterday, which is being ignored.

In view of these actions, the nationalists call the attention of the British government to the fact that Great Britain is party to the international convention of 1921, chapter 7, article 32, which forbids military aircraft from flying over the territories of another state or landing in the territories of a sovereign state.

Although the international settlement has a certain status, due to the treaties, the territory is under the sovereignty of China and the land is only leased. The air, over the settlement still belongs entirely to China, since the Chinese government never ceded the air rights to any other nation, the note says. Since the British have not asked China for permission to fly planes over the territory, the action is an encroachment of national rights and a violation of international law, constituting an insult, and should trouble eventually China intends to hold Great Britain strictly responsible, the note declares.

China demands that the illegal action cease and reserves the right to take further steps considered appropriate to meet the situation if the violation continues.

See Christianity Aided.
Dr. G. Willard Lyon of the international committee of the Y. M. C. of Yonkers, N. Y., for many years a missionary in China, addressing a conference of the national Christian council, today declared the present crisis affecting the Christian missionary work is a silver lining through the almost universal response of the Chinese Christians to shoulder the responsibilities, and the present crisis is likely to speed up the tendency to create an autonomous Chinese church.

Dr. Lyon said the present government provides a heaven sent opportunity to solve the outstanding problems of Christianity in China, particularly the question of religious sects. He declared the Chinese misunderstood the conflicting western ideas respecting Christianity and the present crisis is likely to purge the Christian church of the forms the western missionaries introduced, but which the Chinese do not understand.

The national Christian council, which represents the modernist viewpoint, repudiates the suggestion that the present meetings constitute a reply to the fundamentalist attack yesterday, which is being ignored.

MUSSOLINI'S IRE LOOSED ON ENVOY WHO TALKS PEACE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, April 20.—The contents which had grown up between Great Britain and Italy through the efforts of Premier Benito Mussolini and Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, is threatened with dissolution on account of the Italian premier's intransigent attitude toward the quarrel with Jugo-Slavia and his persistent refusal to allow the matter to be handled by the league of nations.

The British foreign secretary has been urging this course in the interests of peace, and on April 1 the British ambassador at Rome presented a note to Premier Mussolini urging a peaceful solution.

The ambassador was met by an outburst of temper in the face of several diplomatic colleagues which put him out of countenance, and which was bitterly resented in London. The Times learns that it is probable in the end that Premier Mussolini will be compelled to accept league intervention and the league officials already have begun to study the situation.

U. S. TO INCREASE BORDER PATROL AGAINST ALIENS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

MONTREAL, Que., April 20.—More immigrant inspectors and patrol officers are to be placed on the Canadian border by the United States government, it was learned from H. R. Landis, United States commissioner of immigration at Montreal, on his return today from Washington, where he attended a conference on immigration matters.

"It was decided at the conference," Commissioner Landis said, "to augment the immigration border patrol and also to supply these officers with better equipment. Three years ago the border patrol service was inaugurated. It is a mobile force, patrolling the roads and rivers along the border, examining freight trains and every other means by which aliens may enter the country clandestinely."

By its inauguration also the regular immigrant inspectors were relieved from the task of guarding against illegal entries and enabled to give more time to the handling of the legitimate applicant for admission. The system has more than justified itself. The number of apprehensions of those trying to get in illegally has increased fifty per cent.

The Significance Of "Netcher Day"

Yesterday was NETCHER DAY.

Chicago turned out en masse to participate in the feast of values prepared for the occasion.

Great enthusiasm was manifested for the character of the merchandise offered and the low selling prices. To many it was a new experience. To the regular Boston Store customers it was an old experience.

More than three hundred thousand transactions were consummated. There will be no bookkeeping, billing, or collections to follow these transactions. There will be no further expense attached to them.

The expediency and the economy of this method of doing business is apparent to every thinking individual. It explains the low prices that constantly prevail in this establishment.

Every day is NETCHER DAY at the Boston Store to a greater or less extent. Yesterday it was merely emphasized. The idea of underselling is dominant in every department every day.

To the buying public it should be a revelation of the unique position this business occupies because it Buys and Sells for CASH.

Do not permit the significance of NETCHER DAY to pass without giving serious thought to the economy lesson that it teaches. There is much to be learned about this establishment—its vast stocks of merchandise, its facilities for splendid service and its methods of pricing goods lower. There is much to be gained in the way of savings throughout the year when coming first to Boston Store for your daily merchandise needs.

CHICAGO LEAPS TO AID OF WIND AND FLOOD SUFFERERS

Radio and Theater Men Join Drive for Funds.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Chicago, with dollar sign and printed proclamation and radio broadcast, yesterday responded to the call for help from the flooded Mississippi valley region.

Approximately $17,000 was collected before the actual campaign for money was launched. Of this amount $7,000 came from the travelers on Mayor William Hale Thompson's southward journey. $5,000 came from Charles V. Barrett, member of the board of review, who donated it in the name of the Republican county central committee, of which he is chairman, and about $500 was at hand in the local office of the American Red Cross, 616 South Michigan avenue.

Asks Funds in Mayor's Name.

City Controller Charles C. Fitzmorris, acting on advice from Mayor Thompson, who telegraphed reports of the storm ravages from southern Illinois, yesterday issued the following proclamation in the mayor's name: "A great calamity has overwhelmed thousands of people in our own section of the country. Devastating floods have driven over 25,000 people from their homes in the Mississippi valley and the danger is constantly growing. Extensive relief work will be needed in the following weeks to take care of all the sufferers.

Generous Response Urged.

"I know that in the face of this danger which has come to the Mississippi valley, the citizens of Chicago will contribute liberally as they have in all other instances where help was required. Therefore, as mayor of the city of Chicago, I call upon the citizens and inhabitants to give promptly and generously in this emergency, and I am confident that the response to this urgent call for help will be prompt and ample.

The need is great. Your response should be immediate, to save lives endangered by the floods. Contributions will be received by Mayor William Hale Thompson's Relief committee, and should be forwarded to the relief committee, 1000 North Dearborn street, Room 501, City Hall, Chicago."

Radio Stations Pledge Aid.

Copies of this proclamation were distributed to managers and announcers of virtually every radio station in Chicago who were called together yesterday afternoon in the mayor's office by Controller Fitzmorris to discuss, with city department heads and theater men, ways and means of collecting funds for the flood and tornado victims.

Bill Hay, of station W-G-N (Chicago Tribune) and station W-L-B (Liberty) president of the Chicago Broadcasters' association, pledged the support of the members. He said the proclamation

APRIL IS WINTER IN THE WEST AND SUMMER IN EAST

Spring was winter in the west and summer in the east yesterday. The mountain states shivered and the Atlantic seaboard sweated in record breaking weather.

Cheyenne had snow and Yellowstone Park registered 2 degrees above zero; Helena, Mont., was 5 above zero, and practically all of western Iowa had snow.

New York had 35 degrees of heat, a record of 4 years, and in Boston it was 39 above. All April heat records for New England were broken and the continued drought added to the peril of forest fires which already have done big damage. Springfield, Mass., had 51. Baltimore registered 50 above and Philadelphia 59, while thermometers on Pennsylvania avenue in Washington registered 58.

But even the east is beginning to cool off. Buffalo, which was 75 on Tuesday, was almost down to freezing yesterday and snow is predicted for today in upper New York state.

would be broadcast for as many days as necessary. Many of the stations, however, Mr. Hay explained, prefer not to handle any funds and will suggest that all contributions solicited over the radio, be sent directly to the Chicago Red Cross.

Theater Men Plan Benefit.

John Garrity, speaking for the theater, arranged to call a special meeting of the managers for this noon, to plan a benefit performance later in the week.

Commissioner of Health Herman N. Bundeisen, in attendance at the meeting, later pointed out that the great problem in the flooded zone is now one of sanitation. Typhoid fever, Dr. Bundeisen declared, is the most threatening menace at present.

Acting Mayor Eitelson has called a special meeting of the city council for 2 o'clock this afternoon to make further plans for relief work.

Collector of Customs Anthony Casaretti wired a request to the secretary of the treasury at Washington, asking that the coast guard in the Chicago and St. Louis districts be sent on rescue duty in the storm and flood areas.

BETTY BORDEN ARRESTED AFTER AUTO HITS GIRL

Miss Betty Borden, 17 year old daughter of John W. Borden, Chicago millionaire now sailing in the Arctic, was arrested last night on a charge of assault by automobile. She was taken to the Chicago avenue police station after her car hit Miss Gertrude Blackman, 26, of 1405 Sherwood terrace, who was about to board a street car at Clark and Schiller street. Accompanied by Policeman Walter Schultz, Miss Borden took the injured woman to Hennepin hospital, where it was found she was suffering from cuts and bruises and probably a leg fracture.

Miss Borden was held at the station for about 30 minutes before released on $1,000 bonds signed by a professional bondsman.

told to the Associated Press today by Miss Rose Gibson, a telephone operator at Clarendon, Ark.

"The water is rushing through town," she said. "Everything is going before it. As I look out the second story window I see everything being washed away. Cattle, horses, household goods—everything."

"Boats are rushing to the Negro section. We couldn't warn them yesterday when we telephoned all subscribers. They had no telephones. Others thought the levee would hold. We don't know what's happened to them. Negroes are coming out of the lowlands in boatloads. We don't know how many were drowned."

Hundreds Are Marooned.

"Hundreds are marooned in the courthouses, with water rushing around the buildings. Houseboats from the river were smashed against the building today. Other river boats were dashed to pieces."

"The water came in during the middle of the night. We had warned all we could at 5 o'clock yesterday. Some of them could not be reached."

About 400 persons took refuge to-night aboard the government boat Kanakake. It was planned to take these refugees to Hickman, Ky., tomorrow. Approximately 500 persons were in the open or were being cared for on a high ridge a mile west of town. Other hundreds made their way in boats to Sikeston, Charleston, and other nearby towns. It was estimated that not more than 500 persons, mostly men, remained in the town tonight awaiting boats to take them away. There had been no loss of life.

REPORT 52,000 REFUGEES

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(Special.)—Mobilization orders summoning additional relief forces for work in the Mississippi river flood area were issued by the American Red Cross today as new breaks in the levees were threatened.

Reports to national headquarters today place the total number of refugees at more than 52,000 and indicate the acuteness of the situation which led the war department to place the supplies in its reserve depots at the disposal of the Red Cross tonight. More than 25,000 refugees are in states west of the Mississippi and at least 27,000 in the four states bordering on the east side.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., it was reported, is caring for 500 refugees, 10,000 more are concentrated in southern Arkansas, and at Hickman, Ky., another 1,500 are being supplied with food, clothing, and emergency household equipment by the Red Cross. Mass feeding was begun today with a capacity for 1,500 refugees at Wickliffe, Ky.

649,000 FARM POPULATION LOSS SHOWN FOR 1926

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(Special.)—Estimates by the bureau of agricultural economics of the department of agriculture show a decrease of 649,000 persons in the farm population of the United States in 1926. This was the largest decrease in any year since 1920.

The number of persons living on farms Jan. 1, 1927, is estimated at 27,892,000, against 28,541,000 on Jan. 1, 1926. The 1926 agricultural census figure, 28,932,000, was used as a base for the bureau's calculations.

It is estimated that 2,155,000 persons moved from farms to cities, towns, and villages last year, and that 1,135,000 persons moved to farms, making a net movement of 1,020,000 away from farms. Births on farms during 1926 are estimated at 658,000 and deaths at 287,000, leaving a natural increase of 371,000 persons, which reduced the loss due to cityward movement to 649,000.

SEIZURE OF RUM SHIP ON HIGH SEAS HELD TRESPASS

U. S. Court Frees Crew of Federalship.

San Francisco, Cal., April 20.—(AP)—Capt. S. S. Stone of the liquor ship Federalship and 19 members of his crew were released from the county jail here today after the federal district court ruled that seizure last month of the vessel, its million dollar liquor cargo and crew by the United States government was illegal.

The court did not, however, direct the release of the ship and its $1,000,000 cargo, and Henry E. Farmer, assistant collector of customs, refused to surrender the vessel on demand of defense attorneys.

The United States attorney refused to issue an order of release until he had received word from the attorney general's office, to which he telegraphed the decision shortly after it was given.

Capt. Stone was eager to put to sea at once, but he was denied permission to go aboard the Federalship.

Called Sheer Trespass.
Federal Judge George M. Bourquin in his decision declared the seizure of the vessel a "sheer aggression and trespass" by the United States authorities.

Defense attorneys indicated they would demand that the coast guard vessels which seized the Federalship tow her back to the point of seizure, nearly 300 miles off the California coast.

The Federalship, loaded with 12,500 cases of liquor, was fired upon by the cutters Cahokia and Algonquin after having been trailed from off the Columbia river. The government charged that the liquor cargo, loaded at Vancouver, B. C., was intended to be landed off the California coast and not at the port of Buenaventura, Colombia, to which it was consigned.

Seized on High Seas.
The government further claimed that inasmuch as the cargo was supposedly destined for the United States, the latter could claim it contraband regardless of the fact that it was seized on the high seas.

Jurisdiction of the United States court was challenged by the defense attorneys and Judge Bourquin's decision upheld their contention.

Besides declaring the seizure "aggression and trespass" Judge Bourquin ruled that "the act was contrary to treaty and not to be sanctioned by any court and cannot be the basis of any proceedings adverse to the defendant."

He also declared that "a decent respect for the opinions of mankind, national honor, harmonious relations between nations and avoidance of war requires that the contracts represented by treaties shall be scrupulously observed, held inviolate and in good faith,

CITY TO LOSE HOUR'S SLEEP SATURDAY NIGHT AS FAST TIME RETURNS

If you want to get your regular seven or eight hours' sleep next Saturday night, you had better go to bed an hour early. Daylight savings time will go into effect at 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

This summer will be the tenth that setting clocks ahead an hour has been in vogue here. By a vote of 385,635 to 200,721 the voters approved the "extra hour of sunlight" plan in a referendum last November.

All offices, stores, banks, schools, churches and other institutions in the city and its suburbs will operate on the daylight saving basis. The Board of Trade and the stock exchange will advance their clocks without difficulty, as New York City also drops an hour next Sunday.

Only part of the steam railroads, with suburban trains, will conform to daylight time, however. The Illinois Central and C. & N. W. will change their time tables but the C. & N. W., C. & W. I., Pennsylvania, and Rock Island will keep central standard schedule. Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee electric trains will also operate under the old winter time.

precisely performed—requires that treaties shall not be reduced to "mere scraps of paper."

Three Guardsmen Arrested.

Miami, Fla., April 20.—(Special.)—Three more of the United States coast guard stationed at Fort Lauderdale are under arrest today, charged with killing an innocent person who was suspected of rum running. The men, whose names are fixed at $10,000 each, are Boatswain H. P. Parry and Seamen Joseph Kaster and N. E. Lowry, members of the crew of O. G. W-1. They are charged with having shot Ermon H. Jones of Richmond, Va., as he was navigating his yacht off Tahiti Beach on March 14.

At the preliminary hearing today before Justice P. E. Dix, Miss Jean McCoy, a guest of the Jones yacht, told of the shots fired from the coast guard boat without warning. All witnesses, including the guardsmen, agreed that the government boat did not halt the Jones craft or fire across its bow.

SUPREME COURT ORDERS DIXMOOR CLUB ACCOUNTING

Organizers of the Dixmoor Golf club were ordered to account for a $20,000 gain they made in the sale of land for the golf course in a decision of the Illinois Supreme court yesterday. The high court affirmed the findings of Superior Judge Oscar Hebel, who ordered the accounting a year ago.

Present officers of the club, through Attorney Dennis J. O'Toole, had asked for the accounting. They charged that Clarence C. Upham, 7236 Paxton avenue, the first president, and his brother directors had first purchased the land to be used for the golf course, then formed the golf club and sold the land to themselves at a profit which was made at the expense of stockholders.

ILLINOIS STORM TOLL 22; FLOODS CHECK RELIEF

Survivors Tell How the Tornado Struck.

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—(AP)—Turning from the task of searching the trail of yesterday's tornado for further victims, stricken communities of central Illinois today prepared to bury the 22 persons killed in yesterday's storm. More deaths were expected tonight among the injured, a dozen or more of whom are in hospitals. Many of them were maimed by flying debris or crushed under collapsing buildings.

Floods Hamper Relief.
Streams already flooded beyond their banks and augmented by the heavy rainfall which followed the tornado hampered the work of relief parties. Property damage is expected to reach $1,000,000.

Survivors today recount graphically what happened in the storm belt. G. W. Hughes, general merchandise proprietor of Cornland, sitting on the front porch of his store saw a cloud that looked like a "yellow sheet" approaching.

Just as I stepped inside and started to close the door the front porch went clattering down the street," Hughes said. "The south wall caved in and then the north wall, the roof toppling on them. The door frame saved me."

Saved by Stone.
Anna Masterson of Laoni was standing beside a large stove when the walls and roof of her home tumbled in. The stove held up heavy beams and the woman escaped unscathed.

M. B. Drake, cashier, and M. E. Boile, teller of the bank at Cornland, were in the vault when the storm struck. They did not hear the noise of destruction and emerged to find the town in ruins.

N. J. PITTSFORD IS RE-ELECTED AS WHEATON MAYOR

Counting the votes after one of the closest races in its history, Wheaton yesterday found that it had re-elected Mayor N. J. Pittsford to a second term. Pittsford received a majority of only 14 votes out of more than 2,000 cast to defeat Attorney Samuel J. Howe.

Complaints of irregularities in elections came from two suburbs. John Baran, defeated candidate for president of the village board of Elmwood Park, announced that he would seek the aid of the courts today in demanding a new election. He charged that John R. Beck, the successful candidate, was illegally elected.

Charges of irregular elections also came from Springfield where Charles J. Thompson was elected president of the village board.

PURDUE FACULTY MAN ARRESTED AS 'PEEPING TOM'

Lafayette, Ind., April 20.—(Special.)—Prof. Frederick D. McClusky, 35 years old, director of the division of educational research at Purdue university was arrested by F. R. Mott, a Purdue senior, after a chase at midnight last night.

Under the Indiana statute he may be sent to the penal farm. McClusky was captured by F. R. Mott, a Purdue senior, after a chase at midnight last night. Mott was calling on Miss Maxine Mills, 207 Fowler avenue, near the Purdue campus, when the young woman's mother called down from upstairs that there was a man on the porch peeping in the window. Mott dashed to the door and a chase followed that covered several blocks.

McClusky asserts that he was walking home from his office on the campus when he decided to get the number of a house in which lived a young woman who had been under investigation for cigarette smoking. He walked to the porch to read the house number, he said, when Mott dashed out of the door and it frightened him so he took to flight.

McClusky has been at Purdue for three years and has been regarded as one of the brightest members of the faculty. He formerly lived in Chicago and has a Ph. D. from the University of Chicago.

SHOOT FIRST AND TO KILL, HUGHES' ORDER TO SQUADS

Drive On to Rid City of Crooks in 90 Days.

"In your encounters with known criminals shoot first and shoot to kill," was the order given by Chief of Police Michael Hughes last night to 100 detective bureau squad leaders.

The chief called the plain clothes squad leaders the "bone and sinew" of the police department. He expected them to transmit the order to the 400 men in their commands. It was the chief's first move, he said, to make good the mayor's campaign promise to drive the crooks out of Chicago in ninety days.

The squad leaders answered their chief with cheers and confident assurances that they will make the campaign pledge good.

Squad Leaders at Meeting.

With the chief at the meeting, which was held in the Desplains street station, were Deputy Superintendent John H. Alcock, Chief of Detectives William E. O'Connor, Deputy Chief of Detectives Michael Grady and Lieutenants William H. Schoemaker and John Noron, directly in command of the squads. And while the chief told his men to be rough on the crooks—and the rougher the better—he told them to give great care to the rights of respectable citizens. He said the police in their war on crime must discriminate and that no decent man or woman must be submitted to indignity or insult.

"In your raids, in stopping automobiles on the street, in any police work you do, get the thieves and let respectable, honest citizens alone," Chief Hughes said. "You can all tell a thief when you see one. If you can't you don't belong at the bureau."

"I will not tolerate the arrest of decent people, the throwing of honest citizens into patrol wagons or in cells

A. H. REVELL PARTY WILL HUNT KODIAK BEARS FOR MUSEUM

Alexander H. Revell, Chicago business man, will finance a new Field museum expedition to Alaska to collect a group of Kodiak bear, largest living carnivores, according to an announcement made yesterday by Director D. C. Davies of the museum. Members of the party will leave Seattle May 1. Kodiak island is off the coast of Alaska.

Kodiak bear reach a maximum length of about 18 feet and a weight of approximately 1,500 pounds.

The Ethel, a 65 foot cruiser equipped with radio, will be used for the expedition to Alaska in 1927. Special radio receiving and sending apparatus will be installed to enable the party to keep in touch with other radio stations at every stage.

Robert W. Tanall, another Chicago business man, an experienced hunter of big game, will command the expedition. With him will be A. B. Modine, P. H. Batten, and George Smith, all of Racine, Wis. Avery Brundage of Evanston, and Fred Wolcott, a Chicago radio engineer.

to be taken to the bureau of investigation and so on. Let good people alone and be correspondingly rough on the crooks.

"If you catch a gang in the act of shooting, shoot first, don't wait for them to start. And when you shoot mean—shoot to kill. Just be policemen and have no fear of politics. I'll take care of any politics that come into it. And remember you're all on probation, the man who can't make good must get out."

Cheers for O'Connor.

Chief of Detectives O'Connor then told the men he himself is on probation and he asked them to help him make good—and they cheered and shouted their word.

Judge William R. Fetzner of the Municipal court was at the meeting. He pointed out that many of the initial cases of criminals are heard in the city courts, and added that he and his colleagues on the Municipal bench are heartily in accord with the campaign to drive the crooks out.

GIVE $1,000,000 FOR CHILDREN'S U. OF C. HOSPITAL

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts
Recall Dead Son.

A modern university clinic for children, similar to the famous ones of Vienna and Berlin, will be established at the University of Chicago. It was announced yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts of the erection of a hospital in memory of their son, Bob Roberts, who died in 1917 at the age of five.

Mr. Roberts is the founder of Roberts & Oake, packers, and also is president of Miller & Hart, packing firm. He and his wife created and endowed the hospital exclusively for charitable purposes in 1923 and yesterday decided that it should be built on a university site and be affiliated with the other University of Chicago clinics.

Will Be Near the U. of C.

The hospital will be constructed at 59th street and Drexel avenue. It will be known as the Bob Roberts Memorial Hospital for Children. As the Chicago Living-in hospital recently was affiliated with the university, the medical school now is equipped with exceptional facilities for the care of children.

Approximately $500,000 will be used to build and equip the hospital, which will have 100 beds, according to present plans. The remainder of the gift will be used for endowment. There will be a memorial room in which an appropriate memorial to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will be maintained.

U. of C. Accepts Gift.

"The University of Chicago, in accepting this gift," said President Mac

Mahon, "recognizes the primary purpose of the hospital as an institution for the most modern treatment of sick children. The gift makes available to the university, as a part of its medical program, facilities not only for the above purpose, but also for intensive research into the cause, prevention and treatment of diseases peculiar to children."

"A modern university clinic for children will be established, similar to those in the great medical centers of Vienna and Berlin, where the training of specialists will go hand in hand with the advancement of knowledge."

LACK OF LARGE HALL IS CALLED HANDICAP TO CITY

A. of C. Official Tells of Convention Needs.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Chicago loses some conventions. Other cities get the patronage of a number of large gatherings.

The reasons why Chicago does not receive all of the conventions are probably better known to the Association of Commerce than to any other agency. That organization has a convention bureau and a convention committee which does nothing but go after large meetings. So the chairman of the committee, William J. Kelly, was asked yesterday to tell Chicago's shortcomings as a convention city.

"In the effort put forth to increase the number of conventions held each year in Chicago," replied Mr. Kelly, "one main consideration stands out above all others. That is the necessity of having in Chicago the largest auditorium fully equipped for meetings and expositions.

City's Progress Handicapped.

"Chicago's progress is handicapped because other cities with lesser advantages in other respects have made large investments in buildings suitable for convention and exhibition use.

"In order to maintain our position in the convention field it will be necessary to develop our exposition and meeting facilities to a greater degree than any other community in this country.

Switching to the brighter side of Chicago as a convention city, Mr. Kelly went on:

"Chicago, because of its central location and because of having the most versatile range of all forms of human activity, is the natural and

HIGHEST COURT SPIES SMALL'S FIGHT TO HALT STONE'S RENOMINATION

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—[Special.]—The end was written today to Gov. Len Small's efforts to prevent the renomination of Justice Clyde E. Stone, one of the five members of the state supreme court who signed the opinion in the $1,000,000 public interest suit.

With Justice Stone stepping aside, the remaining six members of the court refused to hear the application in the name of Speaker Robert Scholes, Small candidate, for a writ of mandamus intended to upset Secretary of State Emerson's ruling that Justice Stone is legal nominee of the Republican party for the honor he now holds.

Comment on the decision dwelt upon two points:

First, that the decision upheld the opinion of Attorney General Carlstrom, upon which Secretary Emerson acted, and, second, that the two justices who signed the dissenting opinion in the $1,000,000 suit apparently were a unit with their associates in the decision.

logical convention city of the United States. The experience of national organizations is that they obtain a larger attendance and a greater interest among their own members by means of a Chicago convention than through meetings held elsewhere in the country.

Why City Loses Conventions.

"Nevertheless in the face of these facts, large conventions do meet in other cities, moved by various considerations, which are:

"1.—Public or private buildings furnish adequate space and necessary service conveniently located to hotels, shops and amusement, as well as local and other transportation—both freight and passenger.

"2.—Attractive rates for labor and other convention service.

"3.—Aggressive local organizations offering hospitality in the form of entertainment, free rentals, etc.

"4.—In order to cultivate membership in new or dormant territory, a convention is used to revive interest.

Vary Section of Country.

"5.—Many organizations find it necessary and advisable to have conventions successively in various sections of the country such as central, east, south and west."

President Cermak of the county board had his attorney, Henry Berger, in Springfield yesterday urging along the bill to enlarge the county's authority to construct a convention hall. Over the long distance phone Berger reported last night that the bill is out of the committee on the senate side and that action next week in that house is probable.

It is the desire of the promoters of the convention hall idea to get the legislation as an emergency matter so that an adequate bond issue may be submitted to the voters at the June judicial election. To do that the act must be passed, according to the county's legal advisers, by May 12.

BODY OF BOY, 8, FOUND IN RIVER.

A police search for Felix Gogowski, 8 years old, 1925 Fry street, ended yesterday when the boy's body was found in the Chicago river near Chicago avenue. He had tumbled into the water while playing, it is believed.

HOME RULE LAID TENDERLY AWAY BY LEGISLATURE

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—[Special.]—Mayor Dever's defeat for reelection brought all argument for home rule of public utilities to an end during this session of the legislature. The house utilities committee of the Illinois house of representatives today sidetracked the McClurg and Duroso bills into a subcommittee, whence no one believes they will emerge.

The committee's action followed a speech of opposition to the bills by Patrick J. Lucey, former attorney general and counsel for the Insull interests, who cited the recent failure of home rule under the present statutes to win at the recent election as evidence of a lack of favorable sentiment. He declared that the principal support for the bills lay with the Dever administration.

Reading the natural complement—that the Thompson administration does not favor home rule—into the latter statement, the committee refused to act until Thompson had expressed himself.

Led by Michael L. Igoe, minority leader, and a Brennan-Dever lieutenant, the Democrats joined with Republicans to send the bills to a subcommittee by a vote of 18 to 4.

Old Age Pension Shelved.

The shelving of the home rule bills followed a defeat on the floor of the house of the old age pension bill, sponsored by organized labor and declared by its opponents to be a socialistic dose measure. Though receiving a majority of the votes of the members present, 65 to 60, the bill failed of its necessary constitutional majority of 77 and was declared lost. It would have set up a tax of half a mill, which would bring in an estimated $2,100,000 a year. Representative R. G. Soderstrom of Streator was its sponsor.

West Park Improvement.

In response to the arguments of Dr. John Dill Robertson, the house municipalities committee unanimously approved the overland bill to permit the west park board to issue $15,000,000 in improvement bonds. Mark Shanks, president of the North Avenue Highway association; Otto Bera, president of the West Town chamber of commerce; C. S. Michaelson, and others appeared in behalf of the bill. The improvements contemplated include new buildings in Garfield, Humboldt, Douglas, Harrison, LaFollette, and other parks, and the widening of Jackson boulevard, the creation of a boulevard on Warren avenue, to carry east bound traffic now using Washington boulevard, the extension of Augusta street, and other improvements.

FOUR CONVICTED AS MURDERERS WIN NEW TRIALS

Supreme Court Rules on Fernekes, Mrs. Sweetin

The state Supreme court yesterday reversed verdicts in two important murder trials and ordered new hearings for four defendants, three of them men under death sentences and the other a woman now serving a 35 year sentence for poisoning her husband.

Midget Fernekes, convicted of one murder and charged by the police with at least two others, and his two companions, Daniel McGeoghegan and John T. Flannery, were saved from the gallows by the Supreme court decision. Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, convicted with the Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, of killing her husband, Wilford Sweetin of Mount Vernon, Ill., benefited by the other reversal.

Joint Trial Basis of Opinion.
The opinion in Mrs. Sweetin's case was based on the ground that she should have had a separate trial. Hight was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Fernekes, McGeoghegan and Flannery, who were convicted of the murder of Michael Switkowski, treasurer of a building and loan association, were granted new trials because of alleged improper conduct of the prosecutor and trial judge. Switkowski was slain when he resisted an attempt to rob him more than two years ago. The decision in this case was written by Justice Warren W. Duncan after more than a year of consideration. The case has been in the high court since a year ago February awaiting a final decision.

Court Procedure Criticized.
"There was no proof in this record that other crimes were committed by Fernekes, and such facts could not properly be shown before the jury," the opinion says. "It is a fact that Fernekes committed other crimes and that he has a criminal record, that does not justify the prosecutor and the court in denying to him a fair and impartial trial. It is the court's as well as the prosecutor's duty, to see to it that every defendant has a fair and impartial trial. This record discloses that the defendants have not had a fair and impartial trial."

Judge William N. Gemmill was the trial judge and William H. McMillan, who was murdered in Cicero months ago, was the prosecutor.

Fernekes, who has tried to blow up the county jail several times and also attempted to saw his way to freedom, was elated when the news of the Supreme court decision was brought to him by Warden Edward J. Fogarty.

May Be Tried in East.

"I felt confident all the time that a new trial would be granted," he said. "I suppose the state will dismiss the charges now and let me go to the penitentiary on the robbery rap." He also is under conviction for a bank robbery.

The prosecutors, however, have no such intention, they said. The only question in their minds is whether to try Fernekes again or to turn him over to New York to stand trial for a double murder during a bank robbery in Pearl Harbor, N. Y.

According to police records, Fernekes started his career of crime when 18 years old. At that time, armed with two guns, he committed a robbery in a local office building. Since then he has participated in no less than 20 bank robberies, police say.

Italy Startles the World!

Creates a government for the People —without Democracy!

THE amazed eyes of the world are turned on Italy. From the cradle of the Roman Empire, the voice of Mussolini rings out: "Democracy is a failure!"—and before the echoes of the Great War are stilled, Italy creates a form of state entirely new in modern civilization, a state as autocratic as the rule of the Caesars but dedicated to the people—a popular government without Democracy!

And at once Italy springs forward to a new power, summoning the words and spirit of her ancient past to weld a national purpose, striving with the zeal of a holy cause to forge a future of strength and prestige among the world powers. A strong Italy, resolute, hard-working, determined to use every resource nature has given her, and to demand the respect of the nations.

Italy—past, present and future—lies spread before you in the Special Italian Number of The Literary Digest, the most complete view ever presented between the covers of a magazine. The drama of Mussolini, the astounding rise of Fascism, the Italy of today as the tourist, the statesmen, the bankers see her; the new life she leads and the art and literature which express that life—all this and much more presented with absolute fairness to all aspects of the most startling epic of modern times!

SPEEDY ENOUGH, RAILWAYS TURN TO SAFETY GOAL

So Their Experts Say at Convention.

Every eight hours a speeding railroad train somewhere in the United States collides with another train, or is derailed, with a consequent loss of life and property.

More than 500 members of the safety section of the American Railway association, assembled for their annual convention in the Palmer house yesterday, were startled at this statement and others included in statistics never published before which were revealed by Frank Hartenstein, representative of the Lehigh Valley railway, chairman of the committee on transportation accidents.

Safety First for Railways.

Mr. Hartenstein received the enthusiastic indorsement of the convention when he declared that railroad officials must be brought to realize that the preservation of life and limb is of more importance than anything else in the management of the railroads. Otherwise the appalling list of casualties in railroad accidents will continue to grow longer each year, he asserted.

The figures he presented were based on the work sheets of the interstate commerce commission. They were encouraging in that they showed fewer passengers and employees killed in 1926 than in the preceding year, although there were more collisions and derailments.

There were 599 collisions and 542 derailments of trains last year, the figures showed. That contrasted with 499 collisions and 554 derailments in the previous year. The death toll of passengers and employees fell from 418 to 360 last year, but the long list of injured remained practically the same. In 1926 there were 3,916 persons hurt in this type of accident and in the preceding year there were 3,912 injured.

PEDESTRIAN IS KILLED; DRIVER OF AUTO FLEES

Urges Increased Precaution.
The subject of train accidents is of such vital importance to the railways, the employees and the public that to reduce fatalities, personal injuries and damage to property it is obvious that increased interest and energy must be injected into our accident prevention activities," Mr. Hartenstein said. "Eternal vigilance should be our slogan."

"More drastic measures must be used. Some one must be held responsible for eliminating this class of accidents."

W. C. Bennett, road foreman of the Chicago and North Western railroad, talked on safety as an economic asset. Accidents, he said, cost 1/2 per cent of the total operating expenses of United States roads.

State Opens Murder Case Against Ex-Senn Athlete

The state yesterday started to introduce its testimony against Dan Hestey, 34 years old, former Senn high school athlete, to show that he started the day of April 14, 1926, by robbing a mail truck at Indiana Harbor and ended the day by murdering Deputy Sheriff Walter Fisher of Mokena, Ill. Mrs. Ethel Fisher, widow of the deputy, was the first state witness. She was followed by Frank Watson, mail truck driver, who identified Hestey as the man who robbed him.

This death raised the 1927 motor toll in Cook county to $44.
Edward Maddock, 19 years old, 2197 North Austin avenue, was cleared of blame for an accident April 4 in which his automobile fatally injured Harold Carlson, 40 years old, 102 Canal street.

CHOOSE JURY TO TRY TINY STOKES GIRL FOR MURDER

Defense Loses 2 Points as Case Opens.

CRIMINAL COURT.
Peter Ruby and John J. Smith, burglar, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in Reformatory by Judge William J. Brennan.
Gust Johnson, robbery, sentenced to 1 year in the Reformatory by Judge William J. Brennan.
Joe Keady, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Reformatory by Judge William J. Brennan.
The Bridewell: Bernard Rutkowski, robbery, sentenced to 3 to 30 years in the penitentiary, by Judge Jacob Hopkins.

A jury pledged to inflict the death penalty if the facts warrant, even though the defendant be a woman, was selected in Judge William J. Brennan's Criminal court yesterday to determine the fate of Florence Stokes, 21 years old, who is charged with the murder of her sweetheart, James Glennon, a street car conductor. Only one juror had been selected on Tuesday.

Tell of Finding Bullets.
After hearing the police tell how they went to her room after the killing and there seized an even dozen .38 caliber cartridges, the same kind found in the body of Glennon, a juror asked a memorandum book containing instructions on how to use a weapon, the girl took the stand.

Miss Stokes told the judge that she did not authorize the police to enter her room and said, therefore, the seizure of the evidence was illegal. Judge Brennan, however, said he would rule on the evidence as the trial proceeds.

Statements Held Admissible.
The defense lost a second point when, after a short hearing, the judge ruled that the original statements made by Miss Stokes, that she killed Glennon last Feb. 22 in a gangway at 4450 South Green street when, she says, he refused to marry her, were admissible. Her attorney contended that the statements were obtained by police on promise of immunity.

Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Hoffman made the opening statement for the prosecution just before court adjourned. He told the jurors that the state would prove that Miss Stokes killed Glennon with her own gun and not with a weapon given her by Glennon, as she told police.

E. L. Hartig, 703 Linden avenue, Oak Park, vice president of the Ryerson Steel company, is one of the jurors.

ATTORNEYS ASK $4,038,686 IN FEES OF GOULD HEIRS

New York, April 20. — (AP) — The Brooklyn Eagle today said that requests for record breaking attorneys' fees of $4,038,686 had been submitted by some "three dozen attorneys and law firms" who represented the majority of the heirs of the late Jay Gould in the eleven year legal battle over the distribution of the $80,000,000 estate.

Of the $4,038,686, the paper says, $2,767,178 is recommended for the referee's approval in a letter submitted by the attorneys for the trust companies now acting as managers for the estate in place of the four elder children of Jay Gould, who were formerly accounting trustees.

Should Referee O'Gorman allow the fees, the attorneys' bills next would have to be approved by the New York county division of the state Supreme court.

"The fees do not include the fees of the attorneys who acted for the four elder children, George J. Helen Gould Shepherd, Howard, and E. J. whose accounts, it is understood, were to be paid by the individuals themselves. With their bills, the entire legal fee total eventually will amount to between $4,500,000 and $4,750,000, the paper says.

DIES OF FALL ON STAIRS.
Paul Beck, 85, of 2505 Archer avenue, died yesterday of a skull fracture received in a fall down a stairway at 290 West 25th street.

Supreme Court Upholds Electric Chair in Georgia

Atlanta, Ga., April 20. — (AP) — Georgia's law providing death in the electric chair was held valid and constitutional by the State Supreme court today, paving the way for the execution of eleven men now under death sentence for murder.

triple to right, and after Neis had struck out, for the first time this season, Luis Sewell squared his brother with a single to left. The Indians were stopped when Lutske hit into a double play, Kamm to Ward to Sheely.

Crowd Cheers Schalk.

The Sox continued their attack on Schalk in the second. Like Boone would up on second when J. Sewell walked his near Texas leaguer in short left. Ward doubled to the wall in deep left center, scoring Boone, but he went out, Neis to J. Sewell to Lutske, when he tried to stretch his blow to a triple.

Manager Schalk was given a big hand when he made his first appearance at bat, and responded with a single to right. This was followed by Lyons' single to center, which sent Crocker to third, from where he chalked home on Kamm's second hit.

The session ended when Peck and Lyons became parties to a double play, J. Sewell to Spurgeon to Burns. Bill Barrett started the third with a single and Falk sacrificed him to second. Then, Sheely landed a two base blow, scoring Barrett and driving Joe Shantz to the clubhouse.

And so came Willis Hudlin. He probably was twice as scared a few weeks ago when he stepped up to get his high school diploma at Wagoner, Okla. He made short work of the Indians and Ward to calm the Sox.

Tribe Scores Three Runs.

Even with Willis doing his stuff it didn't seem that there was much to worry about with Ted Lyons in the box and the Sox holding a lead of 4 to 2.

But calculations will go awry and in the sixth the Indians thumped the Baylor university pride, making three scores, but they were enough to win the ball game.

"Jamieson walked, went to third when Spurgeon singled to left and scored on Summa's sacrifice fly to Boone. Spurgeon went to second. Then Burns sent his second single of the day, Spurgeon going to third. J. Sewell walked to fill the bases. Neis got the single that wrecked Lyons, and Burns and Spurgeon scored. Bert Connolly relieved Lyons. L. Sewell filed to left and Lutske filed to right to end the inning.

Sox Fill Bases with One Out

The Sox filled the bases in the eighth but failed to score. Boone went out on a foul to Jamieson and then Ward walked. Crouse, who had succeeded Schalk in the sixth, made a single, and Bill Hunnefeld, batting for Connolly, singled to right, but Ward was held at third. Then Capt. Kamm, who had made three hits previously, bounced to young Hudlin, who cut off Ward at the plate, and L. Sewell doubled the captain at first.

Comiskey park is not complete, but there was room in the finished sections which could have accommodated at least 15,000 more persons. Work on the unfinished parts, which include the right and left field upper decks, will continue as rapidly as possible. It was announced, with an eye to maximum capacity on May 7, 8, and 9, when Babe Ruth and his teammates make their first appearance here.

MAKES 405 YARD HOLE IN 2 WITH ONLY ONE ARM

French Lick, Ind., April 20.—(AP)—Achieving with one arm what thousands of golfers have failed to do with two, W. O. Colvin of Chicago yesterday played the 405-yard twelfth hole on the championship "Hill" course here in two strokes. Par is four.

Colvin lost his left arm in a railroad accident ten years ago, but yesterday he hit a 250-yard drive and then a 155-yard "putt" into the cup.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 20.—(AP)—Opening the home season today before a record crowd of more than 35,000, the Athletics defeated the Yankees, 8 to 5. Philadelphia put the game on ice in the seventh with a three run rally that drove Shocker from the mound and broke a 4 to 4 deadlock.

Mickey Cochrane hit a homer in the sixth that wiped out the Yanks' lead of 4 to 3. Score:

Schalk Picks Ted

A. L. THOMAS had been the selection of Manager Ray Schalk to pitch the second game of the Sox-Indians series today, but he was used in the ninth yesterday after George Connolly had retired to allow Hunnefeld to bat for him. If the brief work in the cold affected Tommy's arm in the least, A. L. Blankenship probably will start.

Charles Krutchkoff, one of the organizers of the new White Sox Rooters' association, threw the first ball and took a place in the center of the pre-game ceremonies.

The new electric lighted scoreboards got a tryout. The signals are flashed in green lights against a green background. It was held probable that many fans of only average visual powers would petition the management to change the color of the lights to red.

Johnny Mostil, accompanied by his close friend, Pat Prunty, walked from the Cleveland to the Sox bench via home plate just before game time. He told friends that he expects to be in uniform May 8.

LANE'S PITCHER FOOLS WALLER; MATES WIN, 14-0

Lane Tech handed Waller a 14 to 0 trouncing yesterday at the Logan Square Ball park in the north section of the City High School league. Sommerfeld's air tight pitching with god support gave Waller one hit.

PARKER SWAMPS FENGER.

Splendid pitching and hitting enabled Parker High to defeat Fenger, 13 to 1, yesterday at Hamilton park in their initial contest of the season in the south section of the City High School baseball league. Reinert issued a base on balls and then a double in the first inning by Wickert gave Fenger their lone run, only to have Parker score eight runs in their half of the inning. Reinert held Fenger hitless for the remaining innings.

CHICAGO DISTRICT GOLF MEET SET FOR JUNE 23-25

Amateurs to Play at Olympia Fields.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

The Chicago District Golf association's annual amateur championship tournament will be held at Olympia fields, June 23, 24 and 25. A 36 hole qualifying round will be played the first day, sixteen to qualify. Two eighteen hole match play rounds, in the morning and afternoon of the next two days, will decide the championship in three days.

Olympia fields' board of governors has offered the use of two courses for the qualifying round should the entry list be too big to handle comfortably on one course. As a consequence it is possible the limit of a six handicap for entry may be raised a stroke or two. Eldridge Robinson of Southmoor won the championship last year, defeating Gibson Dunlap, 17 year old Maywood lad, one up in the final.

Golfers Argue Browne's Case. The ax has fallen and pleasant Mary K. Browne no longer is eligible to compete in amateur golf tournaments under the control of the United States Golf association, which means practically every golf tournament in the country. Her dismissal was gently phrased, but it was definite, and with the United States Golf association's exclusive superlegal control over competitive golf the one hope of the popular Californian is to apply for reinstatement—three years hence. And, apparently, Chicago golfers don't like the decision.

"They didn't bar her because she is a tennis pro but because she 'capitalized her skill in amateur sports,' one golfer said sarcastically. 'I wonder if they tried to let her down easy because they know she's popular or because somebody might ask embarrassing questions about the standing of a lot of other amateur golfers.' 'You can't very well say George Von Elm 'capitalized his skill' because his Los Angeles friends bought him an expensive car when he beat Bobby Jones for the national amateur, but he got a car that cost a lot of cash. And he isn't the first one.' 'Overstepping Unwritten Law.' 'It seems to me the U. S. G. A. has overstepped a sort of unwritten law, which is going to cause them a lot of trouble,' said another. 'As long as any person isn't making a living out of the game in question, why should he or she be barred as an amateur? Baseball players always compete as amateur golfers, so why shouldn't a tennis pro?'

"A lot of golfers aren't living up to the 'ideal of amateurism,' as the Americans interpret the Britishers' idea of amateurism. Too many of them have to make a living first," answered a wealthy man who plays much golf in the south. "How about these clowns who make a good living as 'misleading workers' for manufacturers of clubs and balls? They don't sell clubs and balls, they merely play in the tournaments at the centers of golf such as Pinehurst, using the equipment of the manufacturer who pays them a salary, possibly saying a good word for it occasionally and 'making friends' for the manufacturer."

Bobby Jones a Pro? "If they're going to disbar every body who ever made a nickel out of any sport, they'll have to make Bobby Jones a pro too. I understand he has signed a contract to write a series of articles on golf," was the contribution of a lawyer golfer. "I was surprised to hear he had done it, but I suppose the offers of newspapers got so big it was foolish for him not to accept." So the conversations went. Two or three agreed that Mary Browne should have been barred, but for the most part the attitude was that a golfer is an amateur golfer until he begins to make a living out of his golf, and that skill and earnings in other games doesn't matter. The golfers seem to think the U. S. G. A. has put itself into an awkward position, in ruling on what is admitted one of the most perplexing problems of sports.

One man seemed to express the general view in saying, "Mary Browne is rated much higher at tennis than at golf. It might be presumed that tennis is her vocation and golf her avocation. Certainly she isn't making money out of golf as many amateurs are doing." Outside of the publicity given her as a tennis pro—and that chiefly because she is the one woman to reach the final in both tennis and golf national championships and because she is one of the best liked of sportswomen—the question is, what crime has Mary Browne committed?

KENTUCKY RACE BOARD TO ELECT CHAIRMAN TODAY

Lexington, Ky., April 20.—(Special.)—The Kentucky state racing commission will meet here tomorrow morning to elect a chairman to take the place of Senator Thomas A. Combs, recently resigned because of poor health, and to hear the report of the license committee.

A list of jockeys granted licenses for the spring meeting here will be made public and it is reported several applicants have been turned down. Also it is expected that Jockey Harry Stutta, who was ruled out two years ago for confessed acceptance of a $1,000 bribe, again will apply for reinstatement. At previous meetings he has been represented by attorneys, but tomorrow E. B. Jones, owner of the Audley farm, will plead for the rider. Laffoon, now vice chairman, is slated to be named head of the commission, and if he is unable to attend the meeting the election may be postponed. He is recovering from an appendicitis operation.

Fly Casters Open Season Sunday at Garfield Park

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago sportsmen, in line with hundreds of sportsmen in other cities of the United States, will open the 1927 fly casting season next Sunday, when the first casting contests of the season will be staged at the Garfield park pool on the west side.

Three, and possibly five, casting clubs comprising a membership of several hundred business and professional men will take part in this first spring casting frolic, which is expected to limber up the wrists of the fly and bait rod "shooters" and produce some snappy exhibitions.

Devotees of the fishing game and the sport of casting are invited to attend exercises next Sunday. If you want to get a few pointers on how to throw a lure so far that it is cheaper to cut the line and put on a new one than to reel it in, we advise you to visit the Garfield park pool Sunday afternoon, and watch the champion casters from the Chicago Fly Casting club, the Illinois Casting club, and the Lincoln Park Casting club do their stuff.

It is possible that squads of bamboo artists from East Chicago and Waukegan also may be on deck. Accuracy, distance, and other bait and fly rod events as well as exhibitions are on the program.

Stutta, who was ruled out two years ago for confessed acceptance of a $1,000 bribe, again will apply for reinstatement. At previous meetings he has been represented by attorneys, but tomorrow E. B. Jones, owner of the Audley farm, will plead for the rider. Laffoon, now vice chairman, is slated to be named head of the commission, and if he is unable to attend the meeting the election may be postponed. He is recovering from an appendicitis operation.

A cumulative sinking fund is provided for, commencing November 1, 1927, operating semi-annually, calculated to be sufficient to retire the entire issue by maturity through purchases below par or by call at par.

Redeemable as a whole on any interest payment date at 105 and accrued interest on or before May 1, 1932; the premium decreasing 1% in each year thereafter until May 1, 1936, inclusive; and redeemable after that date at the principal amount of the bonds and accrued interest.

Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500, negotiable as to principal only. Principal and interest payable in New York City at the principal office of National Bank of Commerce of New York, Trustee, in gold coin of the United States of America or of equal to the standard weight and fineness existing on May 1, 1927, without deduction for any taxes, present or future, levied or imposed by the Republic of Colombia or by any taxing authority therein or thereof.

The following information is furnished by the Mortgage Bank of Bogota:

Mortgage Bank of Bogota, with principal office in Bogota and branches throughout Colombia, is a consolidation of the mortgage departments of five leading Colombian national banks which had theretofore combined both commercial and mortgage banking, and which then withdrew from the mortgage business.

The Bank now has a paid-in capital equivalent to $1,946,600 and a legal reserve of $486,650, and its plans contemplate the gradual increase of both to a total in January, 1929, of $4,866,500 ($5,000,000 gold peso). The Bonds of this issue are the direct obligations of the Mortgage Bank of Bogota. By the Colombian law under which the Bank is organized the obligations of the Bank, including the Bonds of this issue, are secured by mortgages held by it and by its capital and reserves.

The aggregate original appraised value of properties securing the first mortgages covering loans made by the Bank was as of January 3, 1927, $3,023,099.71. The loans of the Bank outstanding on January 3, 1927, against these properties amounted to $10,980,832.89, or less than 37% of the valuation, while bonds of the Bank issued and outstanding, amounted to $8,124,135.10, or 27 1/2% of such value. All mortgage loans made by the Bank are payable in gold coin.

The proceeds of this issue of Bonds are to be used exclusively for the retirement of outstanding bonds or against mortgage loans made for which bonds have not previously been issued and for the acquisition of new and further mortgage loans.

The Republic of Colombia has for many years enjoyed a stable government, and its finances are in sound condition. The national revenue increased from $21,292,000 in 1922 to $45,039,000 in 1925, while the total debt, both internal and external, decreased from over $46,948,000 in 1922 to $23,407,000 during 1926, a decline of over 50%. The Colombian peso, which has a gold parity of $97.33, is now quoted at a slight premium.

All conversions of pesos into dollars have been made at parity of exchange.

These bonds are offered here, as and if issued and accepted by us, and subject to the approval of our counsel, Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell, New York City, who as to matters of Colombian law will consult with Dr. Victor Corrales of Bogota, and to the approval of counsel for the Bank, Dr. Pedro M. Corrales of Bogota. Sophy Tancred's Husbands

By Elizabeth York Miller.

SYNOPSIS

Sophy and Piers Tancred have lately taken the Villa Mona at Bordighera on the Italian coast. Sophy learns that her former husband, Alan Brooke, the sculptor, is living nearby. She goes to meet him at dinner that night. She is afraid of her husband's jealousy and since he thought she was a widow when he married her, she goes to Brooke's studio to warn him against marrying her. She really has a little son who lives with Cristina's parents. Filled with a sense of mission, she goes to Bordighera, where she meets Alan Brooke. At dinner that night Alan and Sophy meet as if for the first time, but the Princess tells her that Alan is her husband. Alan Brooke, who is a sculptor, tells her that he is a widower and that he has a little son who lives with Cristina's parents. Filled with a sense of mission, she goes to Bordighera, where she meets Alan Brooke. At dinner that night Alan and Sophy meet as if for the first time, but the Princess tells her that Alan is her husband. Alan Brooke, who is a sculptor, tells her that he is a widower and that he has a little son who lives with Cristina's parents.

INSTALLMENT XI.

PIERS' JEALOUSY IS AROUSED.

This morning some imp of perversity prompted Piers to wait and let Sophy mention Alan Brooke's name.

"What's the program for today?" he asked while Sophy reset her ruffled shingle.

"I'm due at the tennis club at ten," she replied irritably.

"Mopet?" Piers asked.

Sophy shrugged her shoulders. She was going to have trouble with Piers over Mr. Mopet.

"Yes, I'm playing with him in the mixed doubles this morning."

"I wonder if you are," commented Piers.

Sophy turned around and looked at him. "If you've decided that I'm not to, then you'd better ring Mr. Mopet up and tell him so," she said. Then her irritation burst forth. Her nerves were all on edge and she lost control of herself for a raging moment.

"You think you own me," she stormed. "This petty tyranny, this eternal nagging! I can't be civil to a man who is—without your making hideous suggestions. I'm sick to death of it. What do you imagine my life is like? But of course it isn't in you to consider anybody but yourself."

"There!" she panted. "There—take it!"

and my feelings least of all. You're always spying and watching me. I tell you, I—won't stand it any longer."

"What'll you do?" Piers asked.

"I'll leave you—that's what I'll do," she said, greatly daring.

"O. no, I don't think so."

He dropped his cigarette on the floor and crunched it with his heel as viciously as though it were the viper that had so startled him.

Sophy got up, trembling with anger. "How dare you do a thing like that in my room!" she cried. "You know how I hate untidiness."

Piers got up, too, and she covered away from him. He was so big and dark and menacing.

"I'll do as I please, in your room or anywhere else in my own house. Show me that letter you saw in Brooke's."

This was so sudden and so unexpected that it sent a throbbing to her throat, and she put up her hands to ease it, swaying in front of him, pale as death. Useless to query. "What letter?" And he hadn't even led up to the subject by clumsy feigns which would have warned her. Instead he had drawn Willie Mopet as a red herring across the trail.

"Don't play with me, my girl. Out with it. Tucked it away somewhere in your clothes, I'll be bound."

She found her voice then. "Don't touch me. I'll scream if you touch me."

"Scream, then."

But she didn't. She had always known that when it came to the point Piers would beat her, for he had no reserves. He wouldn't have cared an atom if she had screamed her head off and brought the whole household running. He would simply have booted them out; he cared nothing for the surface amenities of life. With his heavy hands on her, Sophy gave up limply and delivered over the crumpled envelope from the lares of her breast.

"There," she panted. "There—take it!"

Piers released her with a hissing sigh of satisfaction. It was curious how eager he seemed, how his eyes bulged as though in the prospect of some frenzied delight, when what he obviously sought was confirmation of his worst fears. Did he really wish to be driven mad by jealousy?

Presently Piers looked up, abashed; there was even a glimmer of contrition in his bulging eyes.

"What'd you want to make all this fuss for?" he asked.

There was nothing in that note which could possibly have offended the most suspicious of jealous husbands for Alan after one wild impulse to pour forth his feelings even though he addressed her as "My dear Mrs. Tancred," and signed himself, "Sincerely yours, Alan Brooke." In between it was as he had stated to Piers, that he had been called away for a few days, but hoped to show her and her husband the studio when he returned. That was all, and it amounted to a beggarly nothing. However, there was the fact that Sophy had tried to suppress it and had given it an intimate hiding place.

"Why didn't you want to show this to me?"

"Because I know what you're like," Sophy said coldly. "You might—be venturing on this too, now—have pined upon me. I should be jealous of Alan's. Hadn't you better ring up Mr. Mopet and tell him you won't let me play tennis this morning?"

"All right; you win," Piers granted her. "I'm jealous and not ashamed of it. I'm even jealous when I see you poking around the garden with Orlando, snubbing away in that dago tongue that I don't understand. I haven't got you, Sophy. That's my trouble. You told me as much before I'd coaxed you to marry me. You told me I was just buying you. Well, by gad, I've bought you, and I'll damn well keep my eye on you."

"May I ring for Agnes now?" Sophy asked coldly.

"Kiss me first. Say you love me. Say it, whether it's true or not. I want to hear you say it."

She shook her head and tried to draw away from him, but he gripped her shoulders, making her wince when unconsciously his fingers pressed upon that bruised spot.

"Kiss me—say you love me," he commanded.

Dumbly she shook her head again, for the lie would not come—the hardest she could for any woman to tell. It was for no scruple, Sophy would have said if only to get rid of him so cheaply, but it stuck in her throat and nearly choked her to death.

"You pitiful little devil! I know you. You're trying to punish me."

Then she would not kiss him she kissed him until, gasping, she tore herself away and pressed the bell for Agnes. Unthinking she kept her thumb still on the bell push after Piers had left the room.

He went out with a swaggering air, but somehow it also conveyed the sense of sinking.

Had he really beaten her, after all?

If you go down the hill, past the turning which leads to the cemetery, and along the dusty and rather uninteresting stretch of the Lower Corniche, where John Ruffin's Dr. Antonio chanced upon the overturned coach of the English aristocrat, you will find somewhere on the left a cobbled multi-path with a little discolored sign announcing that this is the way to Coldroli. "It is a back way to Coldroli and San Remo, and a short cut from Bordighera to the crumbling castle where dwelt that decayed but very noble lady, the Princessa Dobleri."

For several days Lilla Brant had let the princess rest in peace, since the Mopet's time was to be fully accounted for on the tennis court, and she did not receive even intimate friends in the evenings. Moreover, she had had it that the princess had caught a cold the night of Willie's dinner party and in consequence had cut her usual "at home" day. Her household consisted chiefly of a dragon of an English maid almost as old as herself, and a very important—her unmarried daughter, politely referred to as a chronic invalid, but known to be a little touched in the head. In addition there was a cook, or perhaps even two.

Mr. Stock Plays Prize Symphony of Music Clubs

DeLamarter Praises Work of Hugo Grimm.

BY ERIC DELAMARTER

You who are accustomed to the basso profundo voice of the regular conductor of this column may be startled for the moment at its falsetto successor, but the apprehension will be of the briefest. The official conductor is scampering toward Italy at this instant for a few days of vacation among the catacombs, and such.

Taking his uniform for the moment, then, the desk reports that Mr. C. Hugo Grimm of Zanesville, O., and Cincinnati heard his first symphonic work performed by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock conducting, at the concert given for the Federation of Music Clubs' convention at Orchestra Hall yesterday afternoon.

After its performance the composer was presented with the prize of $1,000, offered by the federation. In a happy speech by Mrs. Edgar Sullivan Kelley, he replied, but with no heart in the task. His heart, obviously, was in his "Eroic Poem," however, and his intellect, as well. This, doubtless, is why it won the prize, and he is the only composer known to this desk whose first symphonic work was played as it stood in the score, with any chance of success. It is not for eternity, possibly; but there is in this "Eroic Poem" a fine, sincere scholarship, and the instinct for orchestral expression.

The program further comprised classics and the spectacular "Fire-Bird" suite by Stravinsky, ending with that genial abstraction of the Victorian era known as the "Preludes" by Liszt—a varied list, and brilliantly played.

In Joseph Vieland's recital at Kimball Hall was a rare delight. Too well known to the public as the "Preludes" is the viola heard in his solo aspects, for too few string players love the instrument "for itself, alone," as the saying goes. Mr. Vieland is one of the few, both in that respect, and also in respect to his own accomplishments. Playing a beautiful viola, he drew from it a wealth of color; his style was that of sterling musicianship; his technical skill was that of the virtuoso. Joseph Brinkman, pianist, gave him splendid assistance.

Two numbers on his program were of that period of intense, crusading, "England-for-England" power. "The Englishman's Boy" and "The Englishman's Boy" were of that period of intense, crusading, "England-for-England" power. "The Englishman's Boy" and "The Englishman's Boy" were of that period of intense, crusading, "England-for-England" power.

her music. By the same token, the viola was one of the featured instruments in this outburst, and when the instrument has become a popular solo instrument in this country that period will explain much of its success.

The two numbers were a sonata by York Bowen, and a trio for violin (Jacques Gordon gave of his usual sterling art for the trio), viola and piano by Arnold Bax. Interesting works, the both, if not masterpieces. From the modern German school, Mr. Vieland chose Hindemith's Passacaglia for viola alone—remarkable for its presentation, at least.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune, For today's question Mrs. Fiedes Lawrence, 3334 Pierce avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Does your wife get an allowance, or is the whole pay handed to her?

The Answer.

I. I. Schurman, 3644 Pine Grove avenue, president Consumers Petroleum Co.

—My wife gets an allowance. Of course, if she runs short she comes on me, and it is a willingly forthcoming. We were married about ten months ago, and so far this household financial scheme has worked out entirely satisfactory to both of us.

H. H. Sandlow, 4253 North Kimball avenue, sales manager.

—I haven't very much to tell you. My wife and I are living with our folks. Therefore, it isn't a question of an allowance with us. It is a question of my paying all the household expenses and giving her enough for her personal expenses and incidentals.

Sigurd E. Roll, North Park hotel.

—She gets all the money she needs, and that ends it—unless she needs more, then she gets that. We have no iron bound rules on that. I like to have good home made cooking, which she attends to, and we get along nicely and happily.

John B. Long, 1655 West 9th street.

—Well, if I were looking forward to marriage I imagine I would try out an allowance system before handing it all over to her. I wouldn't be looking for a treasurer for the household. Perhaps the grand old idea that governed in our father's day is the most sensible one.

Eugene Infera, 4453 Wilcox avenue.

—The entire pay, and then some, but the tips are mine, mostly. The tips pay carfare, lunches and odd incidentals. The rent and the home are the real expense, and she should get the bulk of the money to take care of that end of it, with a tip on top to be spent as she pleases.

Reverting to Mr. Johnson and the payroll, it is bigger these nights than ever. The boys, over the boys back-stage and in the pit: time's up for them at 11:50 o'clock; and Mr. Johnson at 11:50 is out on the plank talking about the golf he played on the links of the Royal Poincarre, and importing the audience to give to him to know what it is he may sing for his 1921 hit, "April Showers," at 11:55 o'clock; and the rain was pouring down on the lobby and the pathetic whistle of the cab-caller indicated that cabs were somewhere else, the audience seemed to be of a mind to give the remainder of the night to Mr. Johnson and the roofed-in Apollo.

And Mr. Johnson is what he was when he went away from here in 1925—the most successful, most successful, and most admired entertainer in all the wide world today.

THEATER

"THE LITTLE SPITFIRE"

Comedy, in three acts, by Myron C. Fagan; made known in Chicago (by E. F. Witbeck) April 17, 1927, in the Cort Theater, with this cast:

Gypsy. May Collins

Frank, her brother. Andrew Lawler

Marty, another brother. Walter Glass

Gertrude, Marty's wife. Eileen Wilson

Peter Ralston. Edward H. Robins

His wife. Edna Earl Andrews

James, their son. Louis Kimball

Patricia, his cousin. Jean Mass

Markham. Dudley Hawley

A bellboy. Edgar Hennings

IT'S about like this: Gypsy, of the Bronx Gormans, marries into the exclusive Long Island Ralstons, who've made their money in bituminous cigars, so that she's regarded as an interloper, makes them back when they tell her so, and goes to the rooms of the bad-man in behalf of her kid brother, who's been stealing, and is found there by the Ralstons, who are just mean enough to ask for an explanation, so that she returns to the Bronx, where hearts are kind and not given to harboring evil thoughts just because a girl goes to a bad-man's rooms, and misunderstood by the Ralstons, when she started in to write plays; but he keeps right on writing them—like this, mostly. And Miss Collins, performing as Gypsy against odds within me the suspicion that to be an actress in these days of unionized art, it is essential merely that a lady avail herself to be an actress. Yes; and the suspicion carries into the masculine gender, also.

AL

Mr. Johnson resumes in the Apollo where he left off in mid-January of 1926, and, in the resuming, is once more a source of immense joy to the townfolk. Of course, there is the drama named "Big Boy," telling of the vicissitudes of an honest jockey who is jockeyed by the fellow fellows of the Royal Poincarre, and importing the audience to give to him to know what it is he may sing for his 1921 hit, "April Showers," at 11:55 o'clock; and the rain was pouring down on the lobby and the pathetic whistle of the cab-caller indicated that cabs were somewhere else, the audience seemed to be of a mind to give the remainder of the night to Mr. Johnson and the roofed-in Apollo.

And Mr. Johnson is what he was when he went away from here in 1925—the most successful, most successful, and most admired entertainer in all the wide world today.

Elmer Praises Recital by Toys, Ernest and Eva

Finds Pleasure in Most of Evening's Programs.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Here we actually go, landing here and there—

A joint recital by Ernest Toy, violinist, and Eva Leslie Toy, contralto, over WBBH, 7:35 to 7:45, each playing the other's piano accompaniment. A delightful program, soloistic playing and singing, and most pleasing.

The playing of Beethoven's "Variations Symphoniques," by Hilda Hinch, cellist, with Preston Graves, accompanist, WMBB, 7:45, was a pleasant reminder of a delightful half hour recital last week by this artist. Her playing bears the stamp remarkably of a violinist on the cello, with tone and shading as subtle, fingers as nimble and fleet.

The song recital by Gretchen Haller, contralto, WMAQ, 9 to 9:30, was a thoroughly choice program and vocal qualities.

The Kenna mixed quartet from the "Fusion Play" at the Playhouse, WQJ, 10 to 10:30, in a program of most solemnly sacred characters with voices remarkably matched for tonal blend, gave to the night a wealth of beauty in song and thought.

A still greater treat was in the Bury, disc club of Toledo, W-G-N, 10:30 to 11. Sixty women of a famous singing organization twenty-seven years old and trained, apparently, to perfection in ensemble singing. There was the ethereal in women's voices here in very great beauty; infinite degrees of shading; a bright and springing tone normally, and able to kindle the imagination. Credit to Mrs. Zella B. Band, director.

SEN. WILLIS URGES U. S. RETURN TO HAMILTON POLICY

Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio argued last night for an old time Hamiltonian nationalism to check croping out of internationalism and the political excursion of John Grier Hibben and Nicholas Murray Butler in particular. The Ohio senator told members of the Hamilton club celebrating their thirty-seventh anniversary that if the Hibben-Butler policies were pursued the United States would suffer like China from lack of unity.

"We insist," he declared, "that we do not give up the sovereignty of this country to any council sitting half way around the world."

Introduced by President Lloyd D. High of the club as the outstanding example of the Hamiltonian doctrine, party regularity, Senator Charles S. Denen sketched the life of Alexander Hamilton.

R. T. MCKEEVER DIES ON COPLEY YACHT ABROAD

Robert Townsend McKeever, member of the firm of Charles Sincere & company, LaSalle street brokers, died suddenly on Tuesday of pneumonia near Stockholm, Sweden, while aboard the yacht Happy Days, owned by former Congressman Ira C. Copley, of Aurora, Ill. He was 60 years old and had been a well-known figure in Chicago financial and railroad circles since 1888.

Mrs. Blanche McKeever, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Copley were at the bedside when Mr. McKeever died. Mr. and Mrs. McKeever had left Chicago on March 30 and joined the Copleys at Kiel, Germany, for an extensive cruise.

In addition to his widow, Mr. McKeever is survived by an adopted daughter, a brother and two sisters. A son, R. Townsend McKeever Jr., was killed in an airplane accident at Key West, Fla., during the world war.

Mr. McKeever was born in New York City on July 20, 1866. He traced his ancestry to the American colonists, a forefather, Thomas Thomson, having been a Revolutionary soldier. A grandfather was an admiral in the American navy. Mr. McKeever joined the Sincere concern in 1923 and personally held memberships in the New York stock exchange, Chicago stock exchange and Chicago Board of Trade.

Here's a Quick Way to Check Up on Your Daily Beauty Habits

There are a few questions to ask yourself. If you cannot answer them in the affirmative you may know you are cultivating old age habits of the body.

Do you stand erect, strong, free, and respectful?

Do you stand with the weight of the body on the balls of the feet instead of settling back on the heels?

Do you stand with the chest protruding farther than the abdomen?

The commonest error in youth is to carry the figure so the abdomen protrudes. It gives an old and heavy look. Corrected working old persons invariably bear this characteristic.

Do you think of your head as the crown, not the forehead, part of your body?

Do you keep your shoulders free from awkward restraint? Just let them hang with that natural ease that comes with the waist line.

Do you bend from the waist line, making over a desk, table, or picking something off the floor?

Do you walk with a light, free step and with economy of nervous energy?

There is no characteristic of an individual so tellingly as the light, brisk, and none so convincingly old as the heavy tread or the shuffling gait.

And while you are asking yourself personal questions, why not ask these as well for the good of the face? Do you go about with the corners of your mouth turned down? Do you wear an expression that suggests the world is a terrible place in which to live?

Do you wrinkle your brows when you read, when you talk? Do you wear your mouth into funny shapes? These last four queries are to be answered in the negative.

First impressions are formed by a quick appraisal of carriage and expression. Unless you want some one to think you are older than you are, and homelier, remember these few hints.

The Period Frock Now Appears on the Street

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It is not that I haven't known men or have been without opportunities to marry," she says, "but there seems to be something wrong with every one of them. Other women have married and appear to be content enough. I am just beginning to realize I expect too much."

And that is true of a number of women who let love pass them by in their earlier years. However, at 32, it is not too late to mend the point of view. It is only too bad that in the twenties, the best marrying age, one cannot realize that a good man is sufficient, an ideal impossible.

There just aren't any one hundred percent ideal constructions of either male or female gender—unless the one who loves is willing to blind himself or herself to petty faults and foibles. Then, and not till then, can she boast of having the ideal mate.

A pretty good rule for young men and women to adopt is to look for the character essentials in companions of the opposite sex and let the rest go. This leads not only to earlier marriage, but happier marriage. If one gets the habit of weighing the big things and dismissing the little, life is tremendously simplified. The bickerings and quarrels common to marriages are more often due to stressing the importance of minor infractions than to calling attention to big virtues.

Since happy marriage is what every human heart craves, there is no point in building up a lot of crazy ideals about that perfect individual who exists only in the mind of a dreamer, postponing her day of happiness, perhaps, too late.

A woman has only to look around at her father, her brother, at the man she meets in business, to realize men are made up of a number of things and not all of them exactly what she would call virtues. They marry and make other women happy, and taken by and large, they do it remarkably well, considering the sex they aim to please.

As we have said, the bodice is of black crepe and it is banded in heavy white and gold. To this is attached a skirt of black-and-white checked silk voile which is long and gathered and otherwise reactionary in its behavior.

Now let us pass on to more conservative developments of the plaided theme. If you want to be thoroughly up-to-date in your sports attire you will get yourself a skirt in either taffeta or crepe which may range from a tiny check to bold plaid, combine it with jumper, sweater or cardigan of plain tulle and add to this a kerchief of the skirt material.

D. A. R. Nominates for Offices in Society

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(AP)—Ten women were nominated at tonight's session of the thirty-sixth congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution for seven vacancies in the ranks of vice presidents general of the society and three others for honorary vice presidents general. The election will be held tomorrow.

Those proposed for vice presidents general are Mrs. Williams Sherman Walker of Washington state; Mrs. Charles H. Bissell, Connecticut; Mrs. William B. Burney, South Carolina; Mrs. John P. Mosher, New York; Mrs. Samuel Preston Davis, Arkansas; Mrs. Williams Rock Painter, Missouri; Mrs. Clarence S. Paine, Nebraska; Miss Isabel Wyman Gordon, Massachusetts; Mrs. Amos Edwin Ayres, South Dakota; and Mrs. Frank Felter, Indiana.

Those nominated for honorary vice presidents general are Mrs. Eleanor Washington Howard of Virginia, the last girl born at Mount Vernon and a collateral descendant of George Washington; Mrs. Thomas Kite, Ohio, and Mrs. Richard Jackson Barker, Rhode Island.

At least once when we printed this recipe we recommended it for use with the green cooked vegetables particularly, but also with hash—fine with corned beef hash—and with fish. This was its use hot, but this Thousand Island dressing is good cold for salads.

Take one cup of stewed or canned tomatoes, one small onion, chopped fine, and one-half cup of mayonnaise dressing, a clove of garlic, and other seasonings if you wish.

Rub a saucer with the cut end of a wooden spoon, dip the tomato and onion and stir with a wooden spoon while it is cooking to reduce it to one-half. Strain this half nicely, heat it up, and then pour it in a thin coat over the mayonnaise, with constant stirring. The dressing should be made in four times as delicious as the best ketchup, and is food.

Meeting of Bank Women. The lake division of the Association of Bank Women is to meet here tomorrow. There is to be a luncheon and conference at the Palmer house, a dinner at the Drake at which Miss Helen M. Bennett is to speak. Out-of-town delegates include Miss Jean Reed of New York City, Mrs. Lena D. Sullivan of St. Louis, Mrs. Ralph Beebe of Kansas City, Miss Lillian Oakley of Cleveland, O.; Miss Agnes Kenny of Milwaukee, and Miss Ida Hunter of Aurora, Ill.

Dance and Bridge to Swell Students' Fund. Mrs. Edward A. Cogley is general chairman of a dance and bridge party to be given by the Parents' association of Proviso High school, Maywood, tomorrow evening. Proceeds of the affair, expected to total $1,000, will be used to complete a new building for the school. At present 15 students are being assisted through school by means of funds provided through the activities of the association, it is stated.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY. Washington, D. C., April 20.—(Special)—The British ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard gave a luncheon today at the embassy for the visiting former premier of England, Ramsay MacDonald, and his daughter, Miss Isobel MacDonald. Tonight the former premier was the guest at dinner of the American Federation of Labor.

Representative and Mrs. Richard Yates gave a dinner tonight for their daughter, Miss Dorothy Yates, and her wedding attendants, Dr. William G. Clark, one of the wharves, had Miss Yates' fiancé, John W. Henderson, and the other men of the wedding party at dinner at his home in Cleveland Park. Miss Yates and Mr. Henderson and their wedding party were luncheon guests today of Dr. and Mrs. William A. White.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schlesinger, who have been in Chicago, are at the Carlton for a few days before going to their summer home at Port Washington, L. I.

Mrs. Edgar Munson is at the Vanderbilt from Wynne Farms, her country place near Williamsport, Pa.

Hot Thousand Island Dressing.

When one has extensive files and rather a heavy daily income of material of one sort or another there will be slips or some one neglected. Just this minute I am sure some one wrote to asking for my hot Thousand Island dressing, while praising it and telling what a wide distribution it had had through her, yet after an interval the recipe was among the missing.

At least once when we printed this recipe we recommended it for use with the green cooked vegetables particularly, but also with hash—fine with corned beef hash—and with fish. This was its use hot, but this Thousand Island dressing is good cold for salads.

BY PARK

Springfield, Ill., April 21.—Illinois was today the scene of a legislative session through the introduction of a bill which it is hoped will bring about a more business-like and efficient management of the state's affairs. The bill, introduced by Senator Simon, chairman of the committee on administration, is a measure to reorganize the state government. It provides for the reorganization of the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of the government. The bill is expected to pass the legislature and become law.

$1,000 to $2,000
Should the bill become law, it would require that all persons who are not married and have no dependent children, and who are not over 65 years of age, and who are not receiving a pension or annuity, and who are not receiving a salary from the state, should pay a tax of $1,000 to $2,000. The tax would be based on the person's income. The bill is expected to pass the legislature and become law.

The revenue from the tax would be used to reduce the state's debt. The bill is expected to pass the legislature and become law.
